

PLANT HEALTH SAFEGUARDING CONTINUUM IN THE UNITED STATES

Course Overview

Shenell Jennings
Virginia Tech
Fall 2010

COURSE OVERVIEW

This course consist of two modules:

Module 1: Introduction to Plant Protection and
Quarantine (PPQ)

Module 2: Framework for Plant Protection and Quarantine

COURSE OVERVIEW

Module 1 - Introduction to PPQ

- Lesson 1: Plant Protection and Quarantine
- Lesson 2: Federal Government Role in PPQ
- Lesson 3: Legal Authority
- Lesson 4: International Obligations

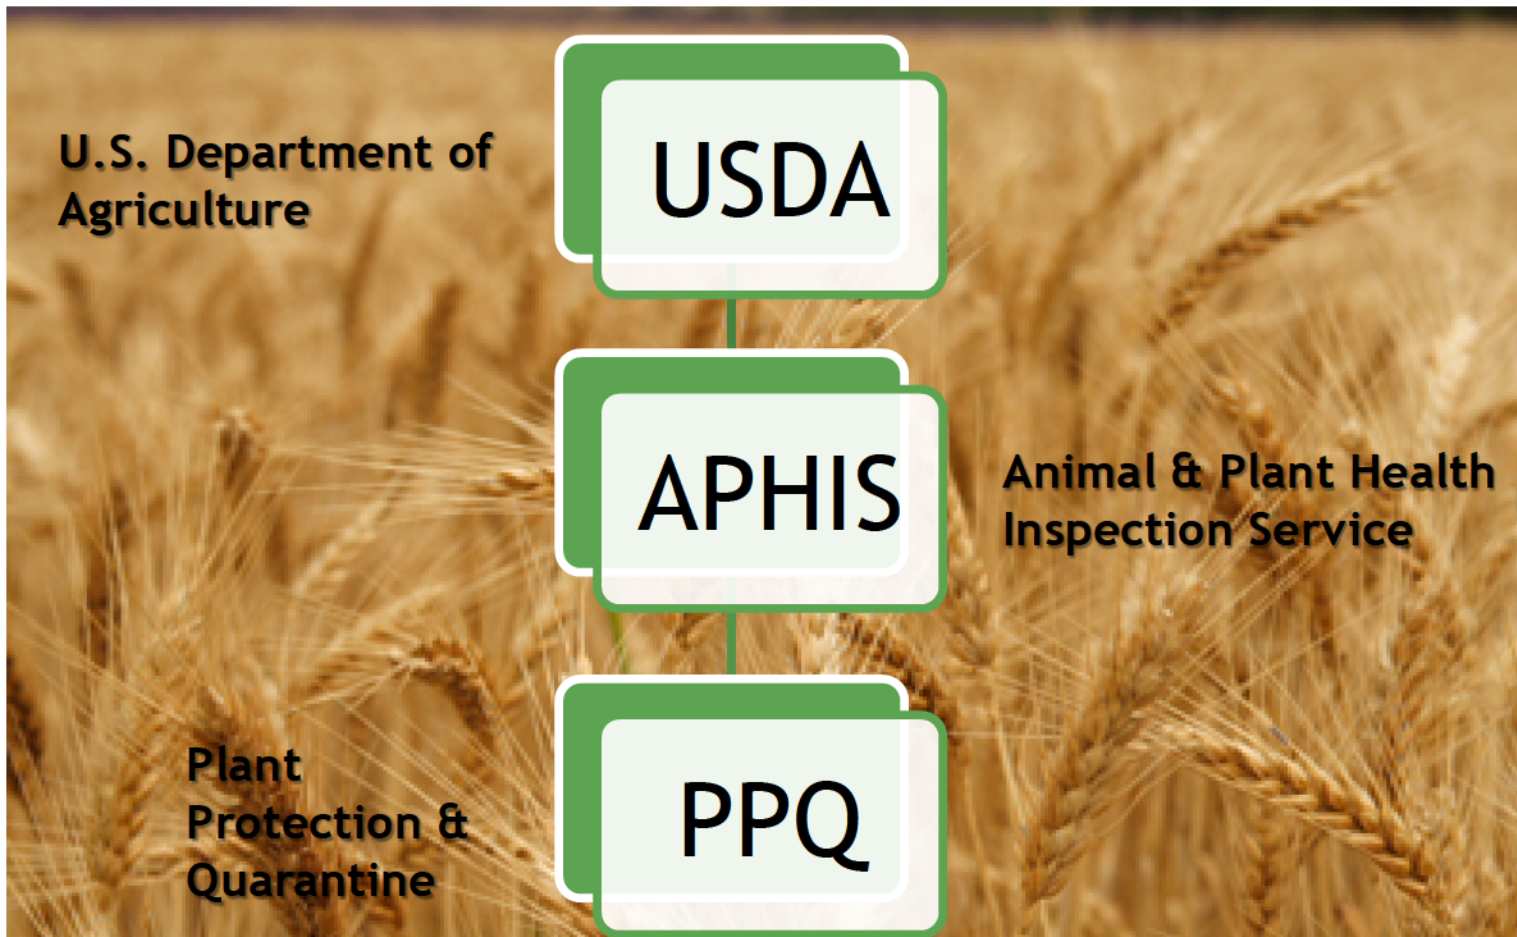

COURSE OVERVIEW

Module 2 - Framework for PPQ

Lesson 1:	Prevention
Lesson 2:	Preparedness
Lesson 3:	Response
Lesson 4:	Recovery

INTRODUCTION

Acronyms

INTRODUCTION

Terms and Definitions

Exotic

- Not native to a particular country, ecosystem or ecoarea

Pest

- Any species, strain, or biotype of a plant, animal, or pathogenic agent, injurious to plants or plant products

Pathway

- Any means that allows the entry or spread of pest

INTRODUCTION

Background

Problem

- High volume of goods and travelers
- Pathway for injurious exotic plant pests and diseases
- Millions of dollars of damage

INTRODUCTION

Background

USDA

Government Agencies

International Organizations

Parties working together to safeguard American agriculture

Private Entities

Universities

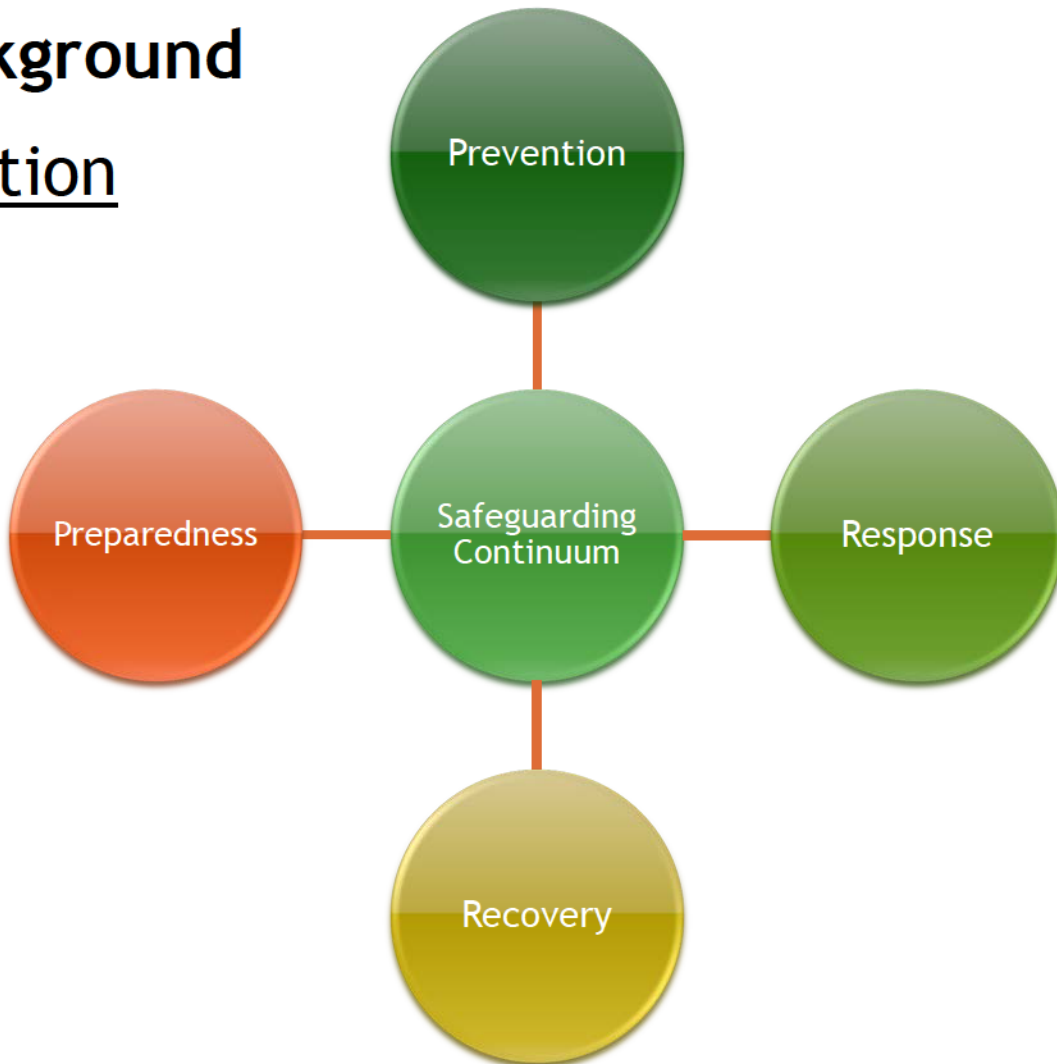

Industries

INTRODUCTION

Background

Solution

INTRODUCTION

Purpose

This course provides an understanding of PPQ's mission and actions supporting the plant health safeguarding continuum in the U.S.

INTRODUCTION

Course Objective

Upon completion of this course, you will be able to describe the plant health safeguarding continuum in the United States.

SUMMARY

In this course overview, you learned:

- The course is organized into:
 - Module 1 - Intro Plant Protection & Quarantine
 - Lesson 1: Plant Protection and Quarantine
 - Lesson 2: Federal Government Role in PPQ
 - Lesson 3: Legal Authority
 - Lesson 4: International Obligations
 - Module 2 - Framework for Plant Protection & Quarantine
 - Lesson 1: Prevention
 - Lesson 2: Preparedness
 - Lesson 3: Response
 - Lesson 4: Recovery