

Vanessa O. &lt;voakes@vt.edu&gt;

---

EID grants your request for permission to reproduce

1 message

---

Drotman, Peter (CDC/DDID/NCEZID/OD) <dpd1@cdc.gov>
To: "EID Editor (CDC)" <eideditor@cdc.gov>, "voakes@vt.edu" <voakes@vt.edu>

Wed, Oct 6, 2021 at 9:20 AM

Thank you for your inquiry regarding permission to reproduce material originally published in Emerging Infectious Diseases.

We routinely grant such permission at no charge as we do in this instance. The reproduced material should contain a full formal citation to EID and include a link if possible.

Congratulations on the pending completion of your doctoral thesis. We wish you well.

D. Peter Drotman, MD, MPH
Editor-in-Chief
Emerging Infectious Diseases
<http://wwwnc.cdc.gov/eid/>

---

From: Vanessa O. <voakes@vt.edu>
Sent: Tuesday, October 5, 2021 8:25 AM
To: EID Editor (CDC) <eideditor@cdc.gov>
Subject: Permission to reproduce

Good morning,

My name is Vanessa Oakes, I'm an author on a manuscript published in your journal. I am in the process of assembling my dissertation, and I would like to include that manuscript as part of my dissertation.

The manuscript in question is the following: <https://dx.doi.org/10.3201%2Faid2509.190088>

If this is alright with you, I would like to request either a letter from the editor or a written contract delineating the right to republish in this limited instance.

Thank you for your time!

Vanessa

--

Vanessa J. Oakes, DVM, MPH, DACVP

Clinical Instructor, Anatomic Pathology

PhD Candidate, Biomedical and Veterinary Sciences

Virginia-Maryland College of Veterinary Medicine

(540)231-7017