mount the individual may try to lose himself in the stupor which can be found in a fifth or the distorted high brought on by popping a pill. When the search is all but abandoned for the relief of these illusions, a helping hand is extended.

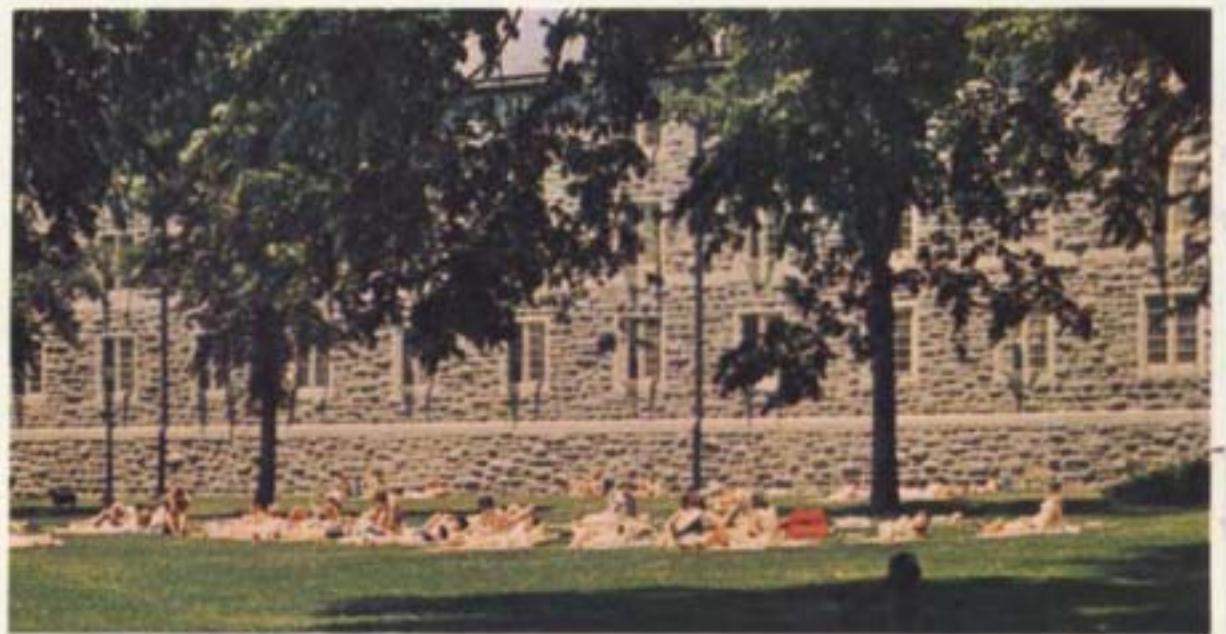

This help is not fully understood because it brings something new with it, a realization that there are others who are experiencing the same frustrations.

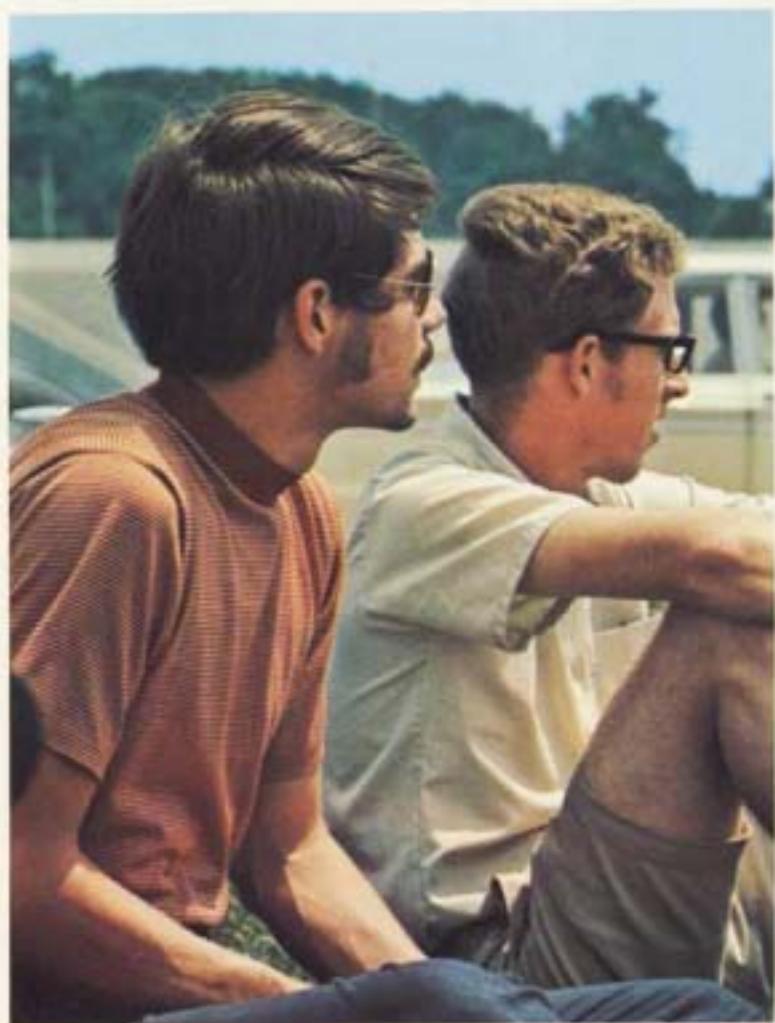

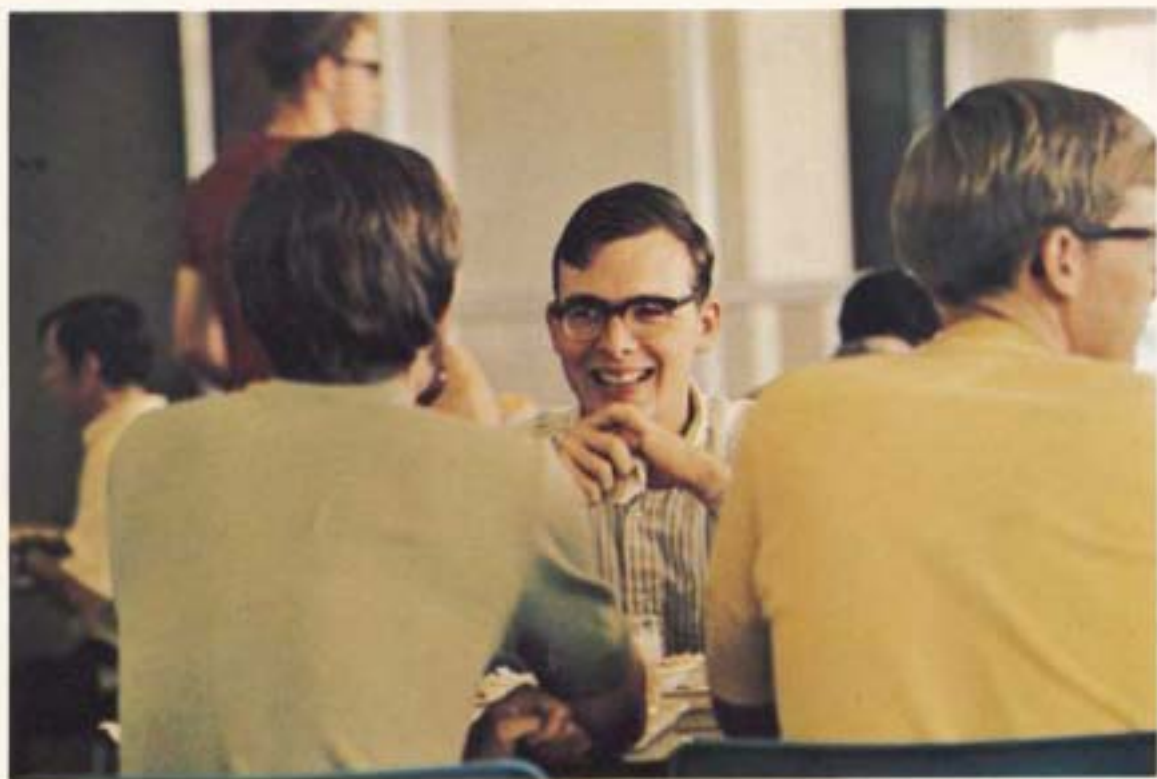

Before the individual was alone, now he has someone to share his experiences. The someone grows into a group and the individual loses himself in the group, extending to others the help that once was once extended to him. He has stumbled on to his goal, he has found love through giving of himself.

1970 Virginia Tech Football, a year of a slow start. Yes, the Hokies have done it again and with it came their second consecutive losing season.

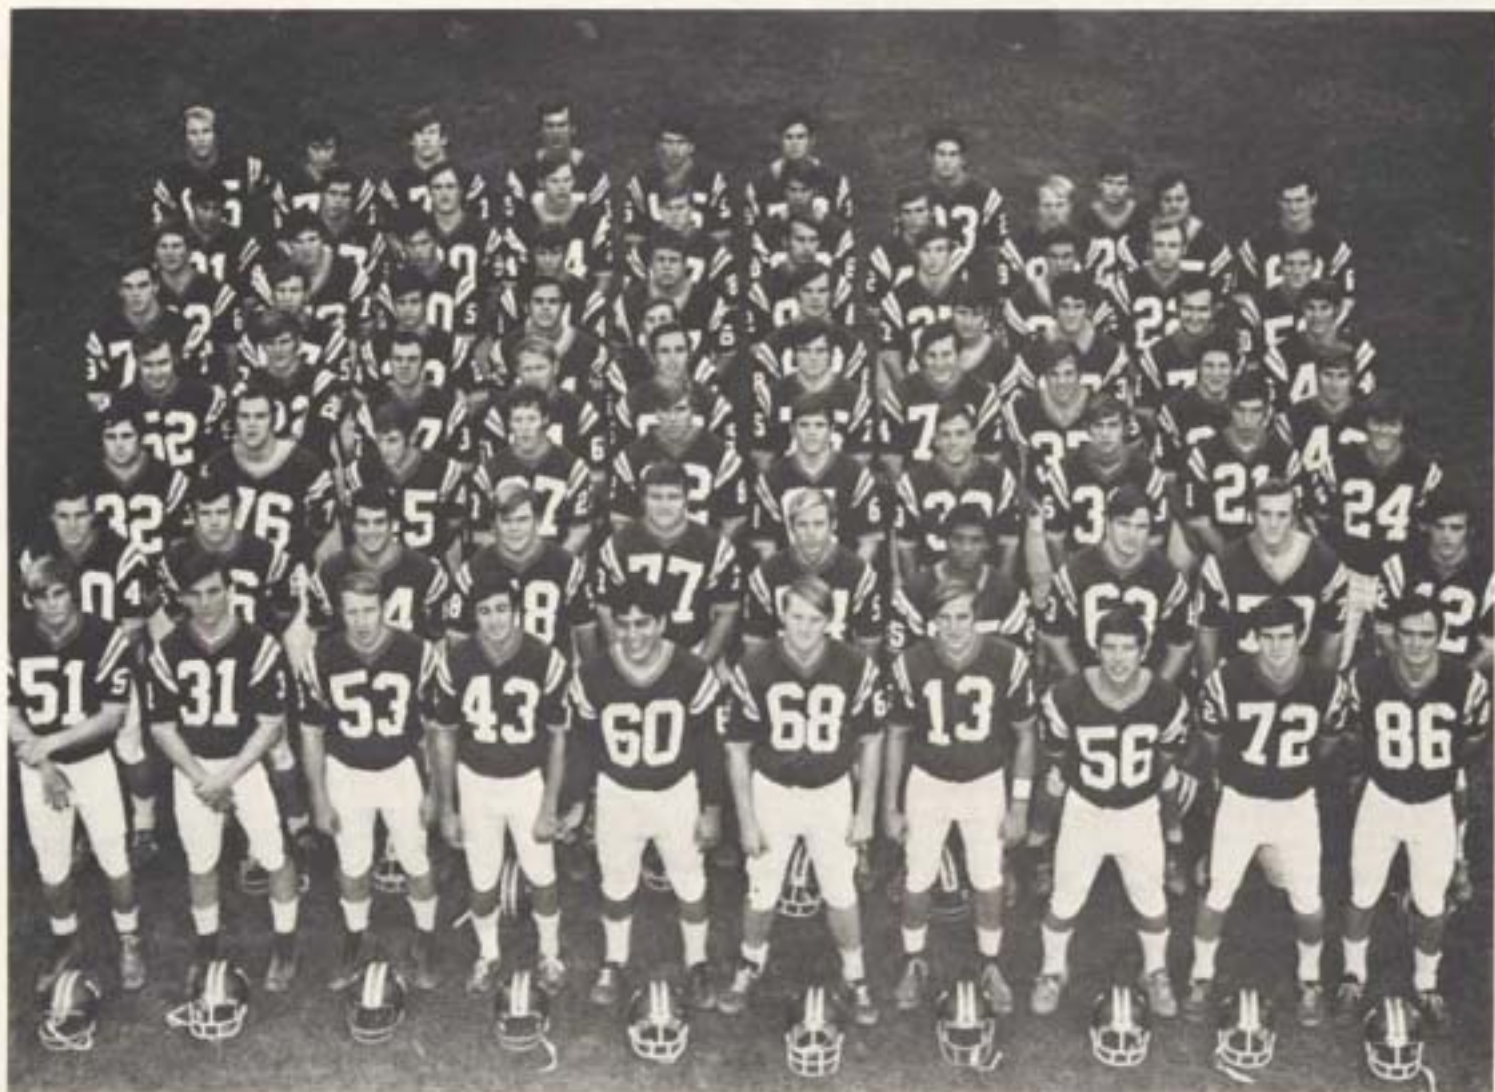

The season started slowly, but seemed to end quickly as informal plans were let out midway through the season to eliminate Head Coach Jerry Claiborne. In fact, at the season's end after the Hokies had posted a 5-6 record, only Claiborne's second losing season in ten years, he submitted his resignation. Jerry Claiborne ended his cumulative record.

Even with the losing season and losing the coach, several bright spots did appear for several individuals. Perry Tiberio, a senior, led Tech in rushing. He netted 764 yards in 184 carries for an average of 4.2 yards per carry and 8 TD's. Tiberio also caught two TD passes to lead Tech in scoring with 60 points.

Probably the brightest spot was junior Jimmy Quinn, a running back. He was third in rushing with 433 yards in 71 carries, second in scoring with 38 points, and first in pass receptions with 30 receptions for 481 yards. Quinn tied Gene Fisher's '65 record of 30 receptions and broke Carroll Dale's '58 record of 459 yards in one season.

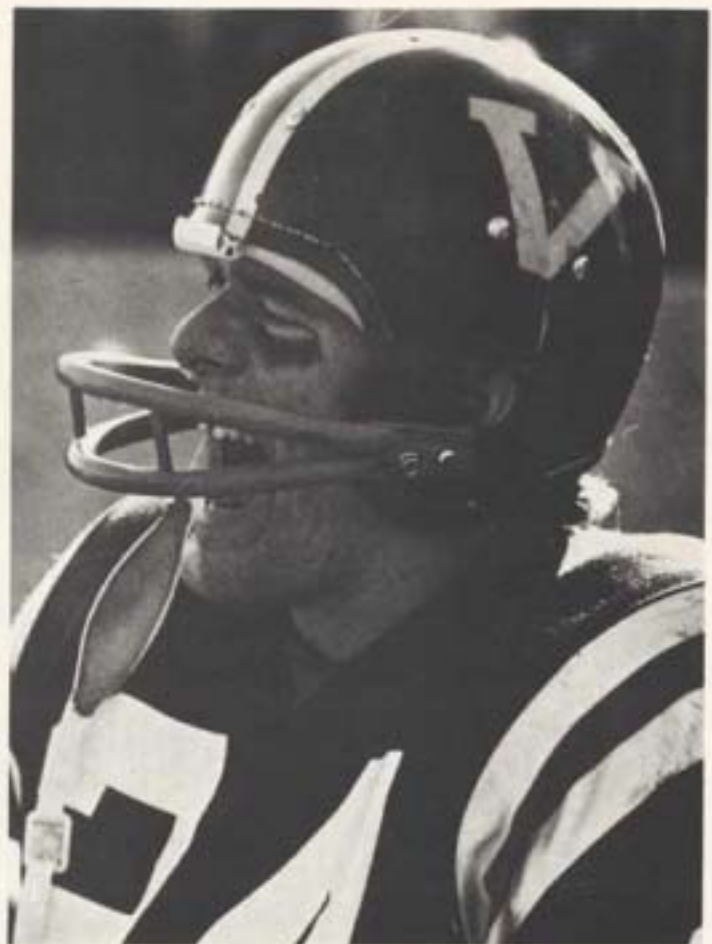

Career records affected were the following: Most Interceptions, 13, Lenny Smith, '68-'70; Most Punts, 210, Jack Simcsak, '68-'70; Best Punting Average, 39.3, Jack Simcsak, '68-'70.

BASEBALL 1970: NOT AS STRONG AS IN 1969

Tech's baseball team didn't fare as well in 1970 as it did in 1969. The team had a final record of 15 wins and 11 losses. The team played well at home winning 9 and dropping only 3. On the road Tech managed only 6 victories and suffered 8 setbacks. In the last game of the season the team captured the Big Five Championship with a close 9-8 decision over the University of Virginia.

A new addition was added to the athletic atmosphere at Virginia Tech during 1970. This new addition was the Women's Swim Club. This marked the first intercollegiate competitive sport for females at VPI & SU. The ladies showed great enthusiasm in the team with a large number showing up for the team tryouts. This, perhaps, marked a turning point in athletics for Tech girls. In the future, Tech hopes to have more intercollegiate competition in other sports for its female population.

RING DANCE

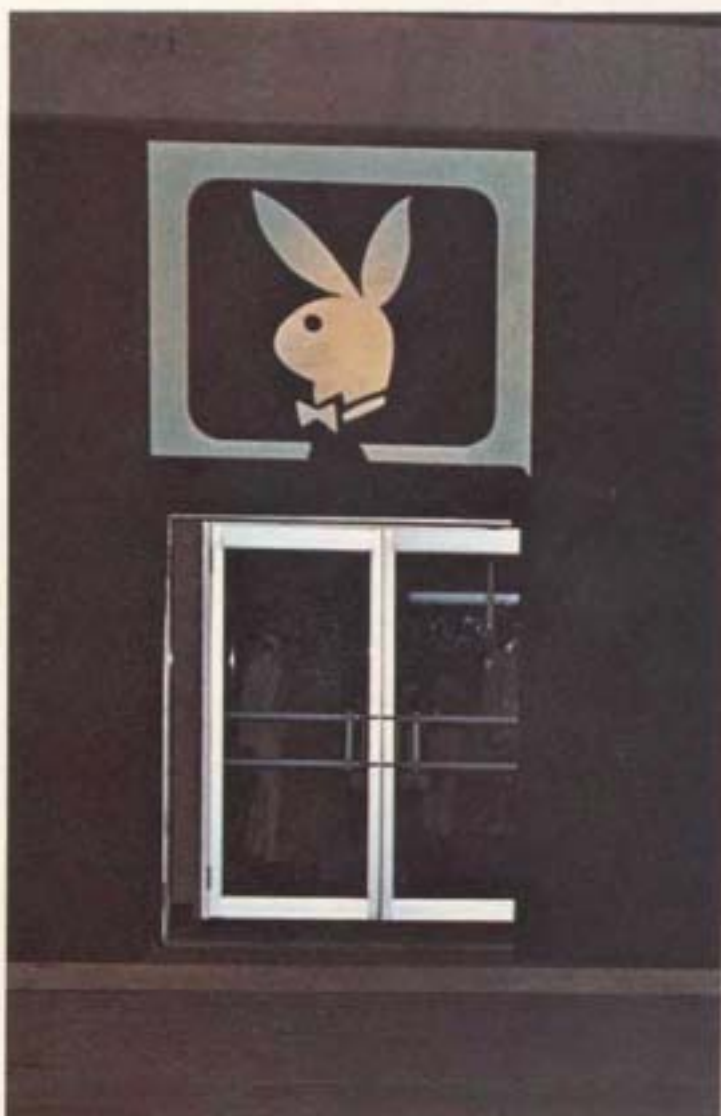

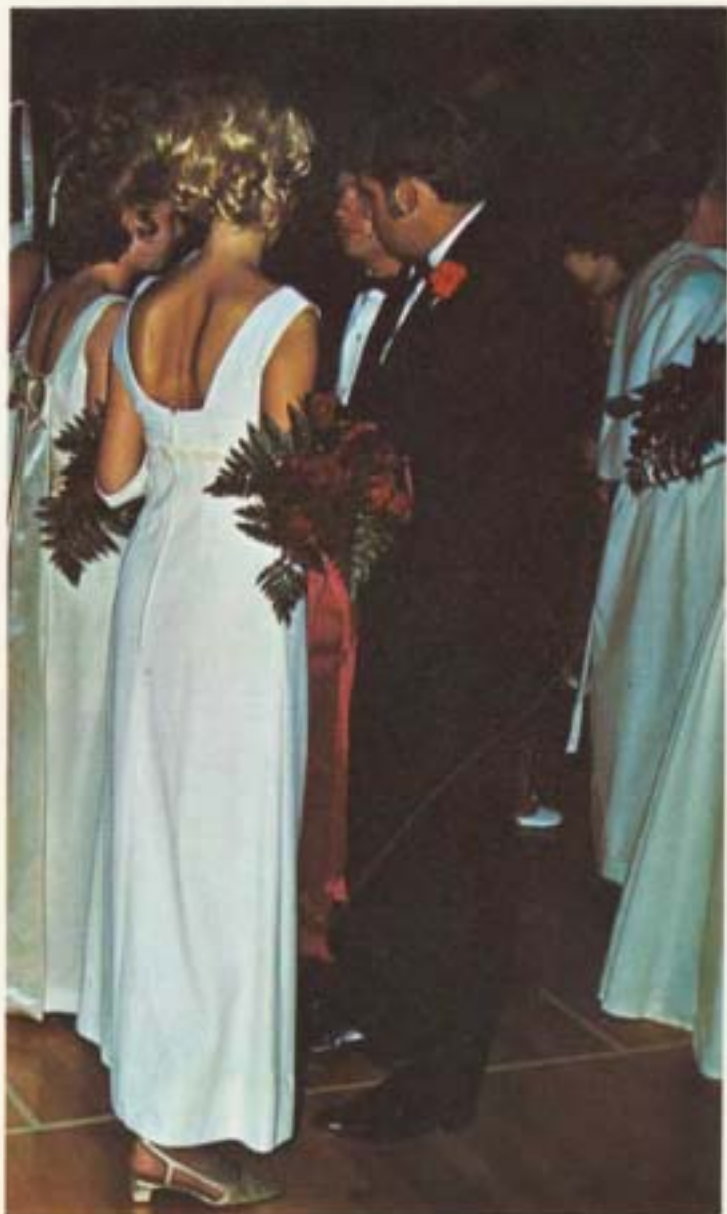

"A WORLD OF OUR OWN - PLAY BOY '71"

The Junior Class Ring Dance, "A World of Our Own — Playboy '71", was a huge success. Much of this success could be attributed to the decorations committee for turning the large Ballroom into a Playboy Club.

Friday night began with the traditional figures. The figure of the Corps of Cadets was a large VT while the figure of the civilian students was a series of symmetrical straight lines. Entertainment that night was provided by The Ray McKinley Band and a fireworks display featuring the Playboy symbol — a bunny head, ended the evening. Music for the Saturday night dance was provided by Little Anthony and the Imperials and the Buckingham.

Anyone who attended knows that the weekend was completely Playboy from the decorations to the '68 Playmate who also attended the dance.

The Corps of Cadets form a huge VT.

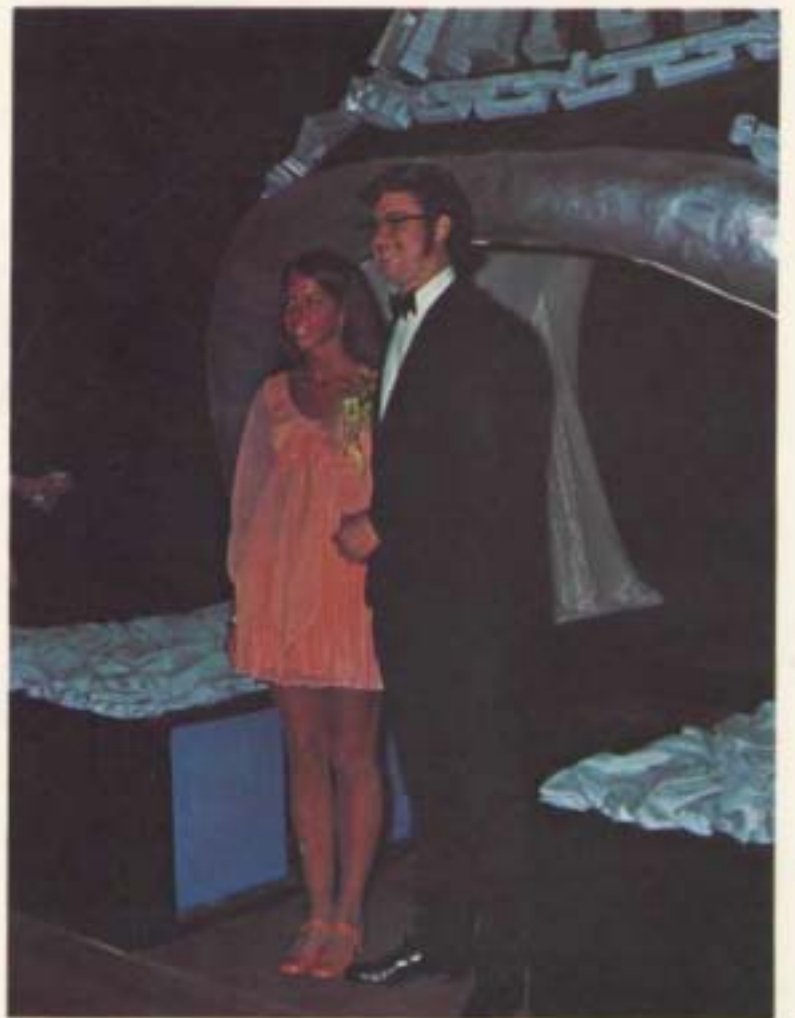

Juniors take a rest in the lobby between dances.

Little Anthony and The Imperials performed Saturday night.

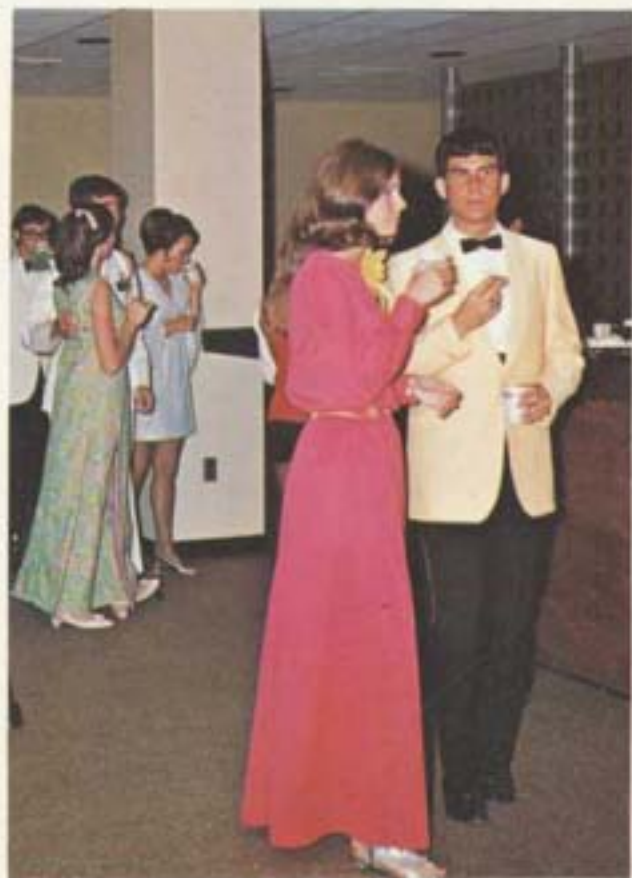

The Ray McKinley Band provided music for the formals Friday night.

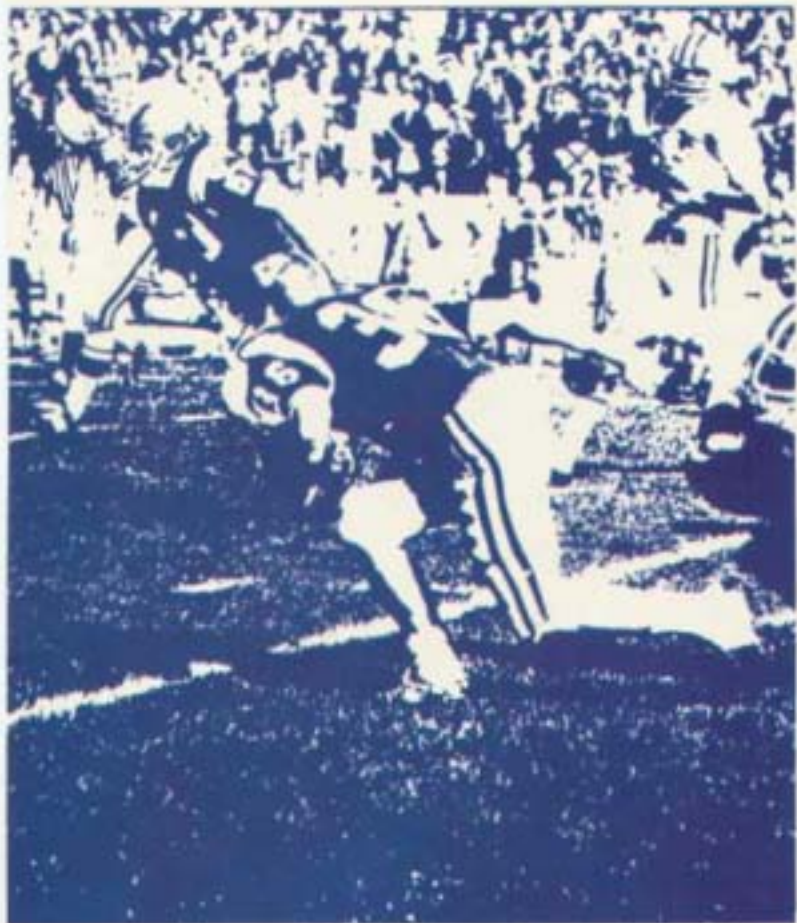

The Buckingham's were at Playboy '71 Saturday night.

THE PUBLICATIONS BOARD

The publications Board is the administrative body governing all the recognized publications at Virginia Tech. The purpose of the Board is to govern the major policies of each publication, and to direct and coordinate their activities. In addition, responsibility for the selection of each publication head rests with the Board.

Represented by this body are the BUGLE, THE VIRGINIA TECH COLLEGIATE TIMES, WUVT, and the MAELSTROM. These four organizations comprise the student communications network and the main outlet for student expression.

The Board is composed of editors-in-chiefs, business managers, and faculty advisors of the four publications. Also serving on the Board are the president of the senior class, an administrative financial advisor, a member of Pi Delta Epsilon (honorary journalism fraternity), a representative of the Student Activities Committee, and two representatives of the Student Government Association.

Nelia Mowry, Editor.

Stephen Robertson, Business Manager.

1971 BUGLE

Founded in 1896, the BUGLE enters its seventy-fourth edition of publication at Virginia Tech. This year has seen many changes with the addition of many new faces on the staff. The sports, Corps, organizations and other sections were produced by the efforts of almost completely new staff personnel, with the advice of their editor.

The ultimate goal of any annual staff is to represent all the people of the institution that they represent. The duty of the staff is to compose the material into a logical, descriptive report on the life of the campus as it is now and as it will be remembered. The staff has endeavored to capture the essence of the many facets of university life at Virginia Tech as we near the completion of our first 100 years.

With these goals and objectives in mind, we, the staff, present the 1971 BUGLE.

Sponsored by the Athletic Association, the VIRGINIA TECH was organized in 1903 as a weekly paper. The Student body assumed its publication in the spring of 1931. Many changes have occurred throughout the years, including the changing of its name in 1970 to the VIRGINIA TECH COLLEGIATE TIMES. At the present time the newspaper has a circulation of over 12,000 copies.

In order to take a more active role in voicing the public opinion on matters of student interest, the COLLEGIATE TIMES has tried to present an unbiased approach to matters concerning the university community.

WUVT

WUVT, the student radio voice of Virginia Tech was organized in September of 1947, and first broadcasted on April 1, 1948 from the War Memorial Gym. After fire destroyed the studios in August of 1951, WUVT set up headquarters in the old Student Activities Building, Squires Hall, and began broadcasting in November of 1952. Except for a period in 1953 to 1954, WUVT has been broadcasting continuously.

Many revisions have taken place since then, including the addition of a solid-state audio system in 1967, affiliation with the Mutual Broadcasting System in 1968, and the beginning of FM operations in the Fall of 1969. With its excellent AM facilities and the addition of the new FM facilities, WUVT ranks among the top student radio stations in the country.

VARSITY CLUB GLEE AND TECHSIRS

The Virginia Tech Varsity Glee Club was formed in 1964. Since then many thousands of people have become acquainted with the group both through live performances and through radio and television. Tech's Glee Club is composed of 65 male voices from nearly every school within the University. The exceptionally high level of performance by every member is a tribute to his intense enthusiasm. They sincerely believe their motto: "There's no fun without music and no music without fun".

The Techsirs is an honorary group of the Varsity Glee Club composed of twelve Junior and Senior members. Each Techsir is honored because of his outstanding musical and academic contributions to the University. The purpose of the Techsirs is the operation of the Glee Club. Instead of having officers like most organizations, each Techsir is in charge of a committee of club members. These committees each operate one facet of the club such as scholarship, finance, or public relations.

UNIVERSITY ORCHESTRA

Tech's University Orchestra, now in its fourth year, has become a key influence in Virginia Tech's musical organization. This year has become the busiest year in the orchestra's history, presenting Fall, Winter, and Spring Concerts, a concert for the Virginia Music Teachers Association, and participating in the Intercollegiate Orchestra and Intercollegiate Band. In addition, the orchestra sponsors the Chamber Music Group and the University Jazz Ensemble.

The Orchestra is a member of the American Symphony Orchestra League, the National School Orchestra Association, and the National Federation of Music Clubs.

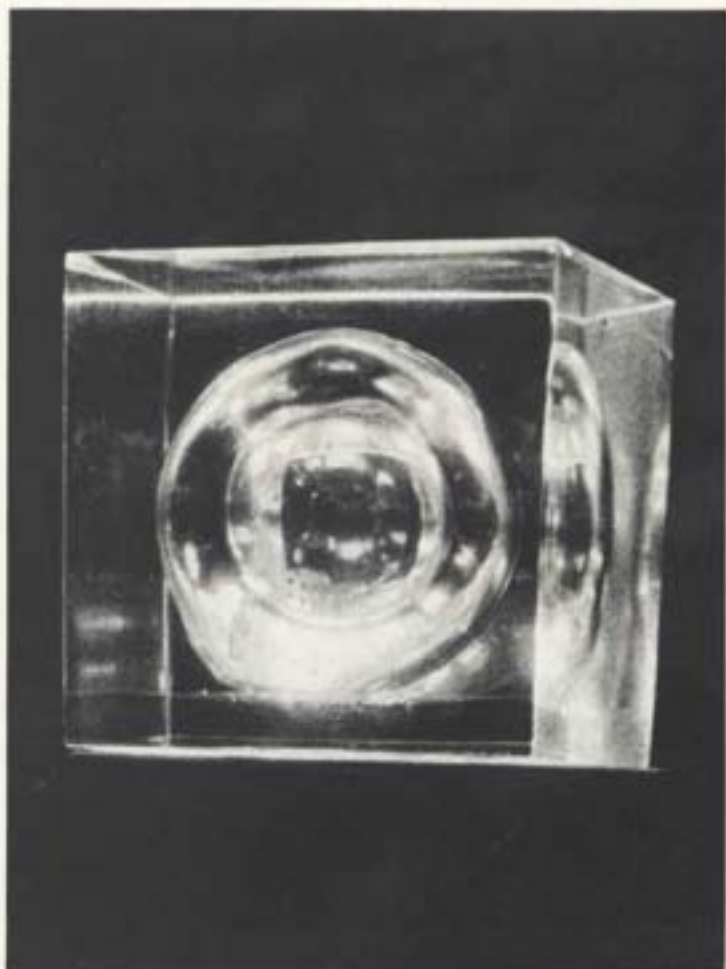

UNIVERSITY CHOIR

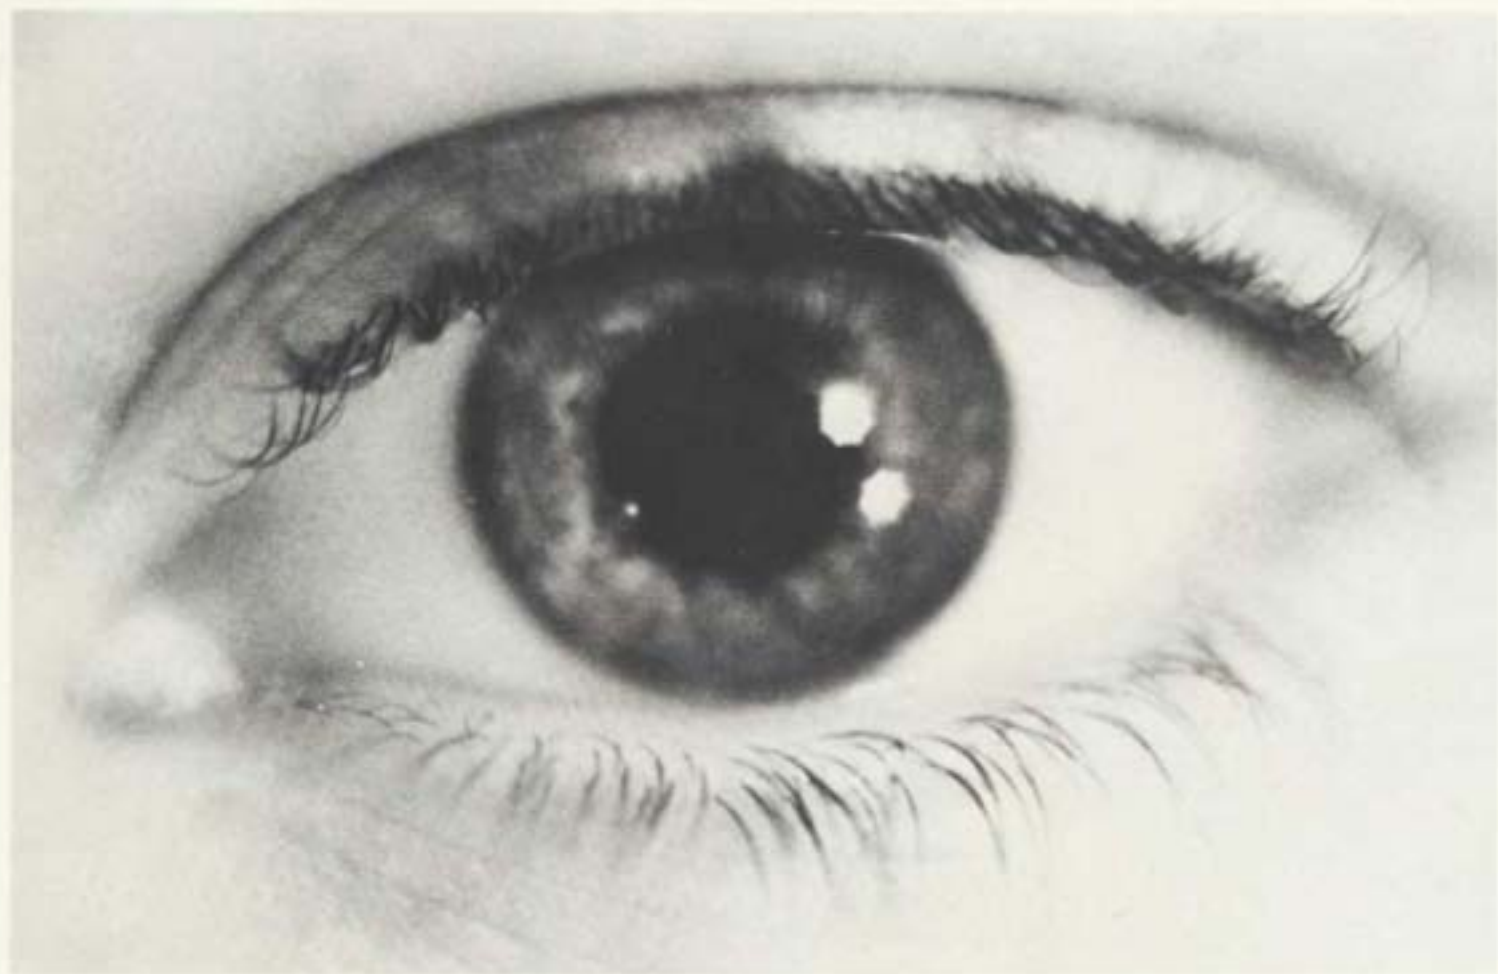

Under the direction of Stanley G. Kingman, with the help of accompanist and arranger Paul Breske, the University Choir has grown into a group which develops the vocal talents of many students on the Tech Campus. The Choir also serves non-participating students on the campus by introducing to them a new type of sound in its productions for the students. In the beginning of December the Choir offers an annual Christmas Convocation. Early in the spring of 1970 it performed "Man". Being a member of the Choir means not only adding a voice to the group, it also involves work on the sets for each production.

DELTA RHO

The oldest social sorority on campus, Delta Rho was founded in the Spring of 1966 to inspire sisterly feelings among its members and to form unselfish and lasting friendships. The sorority affords its sisters many social opportunities including picnics, banquets, dances, and parties. It also serves the university and the community by helping with the bloodmobile and by collecting paper for area schools. Variety in unity is the key to Delta Rho. The unity makes the sisterhood strong and the variety causes it to expand. With growth and expansion in mind, Delta Rho has petitioned Delta Gamma National Sorority for a charter, to be granted in the Spring of 1971.

On Feb. 19, 1971 the local fraternity of Phi Delta Psi became an incorporated chapter of the international brotherhood of Kappa Sigma. This brotherhood strives to create a balance of social, service, and scholastic interests for its members and to develop the qualities of self-reliance, sincerity, and leadership in its pledges through a serious purposeful pledging program. It is with these ideals a realization that Kappa Sigma cements a universal atmosphere in which all men can in essence become brothers. "Individual means conquering a common foe for a universal end."

LAMBDA CHI

One of the most active fraternities on campus, Lambda Chi was founded during the winter quarter of 1969 to promote the academic and social welfare of its brothers and to improve the social climate at Virginia Tech. Happy hours, theme and combo parties, and fraternity trips highlighted Lambda Chi's list of social events. Work on their new house demanded much of the brothers' time as did pledging IFC. Also involved in community affairs, Lambda Chi hosted the IFC Christmas party for underprivileged children. Joint meetings with Delta Zeta and Delta Sigma Tau rounded out Lambda Chi's 1970-71 activities.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA

Founded in October, 1958, Sigma Omega Tau joined the ranks of the national fraternities on the Tech Campus as Lambda Chi Alpha. Located at 413 Roanoke Street, the brotherhood continued to provide its members with a home while at college. Social events that highlighted the year included Parent's Weekend, Toga and Shipwreck parties, and an annual Myrtle Beach excursion. Lambda Chi Alpha, realizing its civic responsibilities, participated in the Heart Fund drive and the IFC Christmas party for underprivileged children.

Wine and Toga parties frequently sponsored by Lambda Chi Alpha are a favorite social event.

PHI ALPHA CHI

Phi Alpha Chi, formed in the fall of 1966, centered its year's activities at the PAX house, located midway between Blacksburg and Christiansburg. Composed of twenty-six personalities, the individual was not forsaken in Phi Alpha Chi. Each brother represents a unique entity while maintaining his loyalty to the brotherhood. PAX provided a social balance to the academic life of each brother.

After petitioning the Phi Sigma Kappa national offices this fall, AKE became a Phi Sig colony in November. During the past year the brotherhood won the IFC softball championship and participated in the annual Christmas party for local underprivileged children. A cocktail party for alumni brothers and a pajama doo-bee combo party were among their most successful winter social activities.

The charter of the Epsilon chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha dates back to November 11, 1873 when it became the first national social fraternity at Virginia Agricultural and Mechanical College. By 1880, when the Board of Visitors banned all fraternities, the chapter had initiated 64 brothers in its seven years of existence.

On May 26, 1970 the VPI Cotillion Club was given approval to proceed with its colonization plans by the national organization. Last fall the Colony extended 36 bids to Virginia Tech students and all were excepted on an immediate or deferred basis. This is a record among the other fraternities at Tech. The Epsilon chapter received its charter on February 27, 1971.

PI KAPPA PHI

Pi Kappa Phi, formerly Kappa Sigma Chi, was founded Winter quarter, 1969. They moved into their present house located off Toms Creek Road, overlooking the by-pass shortly thereafter. This year the fraternity worked for more than just the hours of socials and enjoyment as it attempted to fulfill the true meaning of the word "fraternity"—a strong tie of brotherhood.

Right: Fully attired Pi Kappa Phi brothers sit on the dock near the bay.

It was 1947 when they came to Shadow Lake. A bunch of individuals who joined together and called themselves a brotherhood. Eleven years passed and they came to settle on Roanoke Street. All were now different from those who came before. But there was still a bond that kept them together. Today they still live there. Their ideas and behaviors are more different than ever before. But there is still a bond — this thing called brotherhood. And all of the will stand together — This is Sigma Lambda.

SIGMA PHI EPSILON

Sigma Phi Epsilon was founded in November 1901 at Richmond College. Today the fraternity has in excess of 90,000 initiates and 187 active chapters.

Virginia Kappa chapter received its charter on April 25, 1971 after growing from sixteen at its conception a year earlier to a strong brotherhood of forty-one. The fraternity is active in all phases of both university and community affairs. Sigma Phi Epsilon was third in overall team intramural sports, with brother Alan R. Collier being the university individual champion. The brothers are active in student government, class functions, and curricular organizations.

Academically the fraternity ranks high in with numerous brothers in Phi Eta Sigma and three brothers in Tau Beta Pi. Sigma Phi Epsilon operates and maintains the FISH furniture bank and has conducted fund raising drives for both the March of Dimes and Muscular Dystrophy. Sigma Phi Epsilon looks forward to the day when the potential for service of the fraternity system will become a reality on this campus.

TAU DELTA

In addition to regular combo and theme parties throughout the year, Tau Delta held an installation and awards banquet in the Spring, a Christmas party for underprivileged children at the end of Fall Quarter, and sponsored an orphan through the Christian Childrens' Organization. Along with providing a rewarding social life for its members, Tau Delta maintained close ties of friendship and brotherhood.

DELTA SIGMA TAU

Delta Sigma Tau, founded at Tech in the Spring of 1968, continues to bring into the fraternity system men who strongly hold the ideals of devotion, service, and togetherness. Located at 704 North Main Street, the house has been completely re-decorated and furnished by the brothers to serve as the center for all fraternity business and functions. As a member fraternity of the IFC, and with such activities as faculty nights, parents' weekend, intramural sports, and weekend parties the fraternity strives to give its brothers the most and the best of their college experience. Keeping pace with the expanding fraternity system at VPI, Delta Sigma Tau is presently a colony of Sigma Pi National Social Fraternity, an organization whose goals and objectives most closely ally with those of DST.

COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING

The College of Engineering at VPI & SU has long been known for its excellence. Upholding this great tradition is responsibility of its new dean, Dr. P.A. Torgensen.

The College, based in Norris Hall, includes in its curriculum eleven fields, including Aerospace, Agriculture, Electrical, and Mechanical Engineering.

COLLEGE OF HOME ECONOMICS

Dean Laura J. Harper of the College of Home Economics.

The College of Home Economics in all its aspects deals with people. How people live, what they are interested in, and what their needs are comprise the largest part of the home economics program. The College provides its students with the background necessary to contribute to personal development and to prepare for professions in home economics. Students are able to gain an understanding of people with regards to clothing, human relations, family management, and food, with an emphasis on the knowledge to be gained in academic fields.

THE FACULTY SENATE

The opening of Fall Quarter saw Virginia Tech's Faculty Senate being presided over by the new president, Dr. George Gray. Forty senators were elected from the various colleges.

The Faculty Senate's goals are as those of last year. They consist of: voicing faculty opinion; electing representatives to policy-making bodies; being the group through which the faculty participates in the decision-making process on matters affecting the university environment; and expressing ideas and concerns about the nature of the university and its relation to society.

COMMISSION ON STUDENT AFFAIRS

The Commission on Student Affairs, which is organized into a student-faculty administration structure, serves as a subcommittee to the University Council and standing committee of the President of the University. It deals with policies affecting "student life."

The committee has undergone a name change just recently. It was formerly known as CUSA, Commission on Undergraduate Student Affairs.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION

The main communication link between students and administration is composed of all Tech students and is known as the SGA. Policies are channeled through the organization that affect the social and cultural life of the student. The present president, Sandy Hawthorne, has been the leader of the 1970-71 SGA.

CIVILIAN HONOR COURT

The Honor System, brought into use at Virginia Tech in 1908, is based on the principle that Tech students are mature enough to be trusted. The system, which is set forth under the judicial branch of the Constitution of the Student Body, is actively supported and upheld by the University. This includes every student enrolled at VPI & SU.

The Civilian Honor Court is composed of three staffs: the Honor Council, the Prosecution Staff, and the Defense Staff. The Chief Justice is assisted in the numerous duties of that office by associate justices.

Cadet Honor Court—Tom Woodson, Assistant Sargeant-at-Arms; Bob Graebener, Chief Justice; Tom Roseman, Associate Justice; Ray Jones, Recorder.

The responsibility of investigating Cadet Honor Code violations rests with the Cadet Honor court established in 1906. "To trust a man is to make him worthy of that trust; No gentleman will lie, cheat, or steal; Every cadet is a gentleman" are the three assumptions on which the Honor Code is based. The court consists of two branches, the Investigating Branch and the Judicial Branch.

The Cadet Honor Code strongly emphasizes the Virginia Tech Honor System and has become an accepted, well as, respected part of cadet life.

CIVILIAN INTERDORMITORY COUNCIL

The Civilian Interdormitory Council, which provides male students with the opportunity to be heard, consists of four executive officers and the House Council Presidents from all male dorms. The main function of the council is to better living conditions in the dorms.

A strong voice is heard from the CIC in organizations such as the SGA Executive Committees and the Commission on Undergraduate Affairs. Projects which are initiated by the CIC exist to serve the male civilian student.

Students are given the chance to assume leadership in a democratic government and group living, as well as, to express desires for self-betterment. The WIC helps to encourage scholastic achievement, as well as, establishing a source of unity within the student body.

CORPS

THE VIRGINIA TECH CORPS OF CADETS

The Virginia Tech Corps of Cadets consists of approximately 700 men destined to be the military and civilian leaders of the future. Through the training they receive in cadet life, members of the Corps learn to work for people, as well as with them. They learn that leadership, honor, responsibility, integrity, and self-confidence are more than just words—they describe an honored Corps tradition that still dominates this organization.

Since the founding of the VTCC in 1872, under the provisions of the Morrill Land Grant Act, the Corps has dedicated itself to producing tomorrow's leaders. Sons of the Corps have served in every military conflict since the Spanish-American War, with six former cadets receiving the nation's highest award, the Congressional Medal of Honor.

Virginia Tech is one of two universities in the country that has a Corps of Cadets as an integral part of the student body. Each entering cadet starts on an equal footing and progresses during his four years at Tech to the full limits of his ability.

At the close of the 1969-70 school year, the 2 battallions and 2 groups of the Corps reorganized to form 1st Battallion and 2nd Group. Old unit loyalties had to be replaced with new ones, and many problems had to be overcome. However, through individual cooperation and effective leadership, the decision to reorganize has proven to be a wise one.

Although the Corps has its own honor court and exclusive societies, Corps members are active in all phases of campus life. Cadets are represented in student government and have earned recognition in almost every academic and extra-curricular activity on campus. Thus, the men of the Virginia Tech Corps of Cadets join in the age old tradition of Techmen in following their motto: "Ut Prosim," That I May Serve.

COMMANDANT OF CADETS

Major General Francis T. Pachler, presently the Commandant of Cadets, has served a very distinguished military career with the United States Army. Since his graduation from West Point in 1931, he has held many leadership positions including Commanding General of the Seventh Division, Deputy Commandant of the National War College, and Chief of Staff U.S. Army Europe. For these services he has received the Silver Star, Bronze Star, Oak Leaf Cluster Legion of Merit, Commendation Ribbon, and the Distinguished Service Medal for duty in positions of great responsibility during the period 1954-1967.

General Pachler and his staff provide guidance and consultation to the cadets, and co-ordinate activities of the Virginia Tech Corps of Cadets. This year General Pachler is assisted by his Chief of Staff Col. James H. McCann, and Lt. Col. John D.C. Baldwin. Added this year are Maj. Thomas E.C. Hughes and Capt. Joseph T. Jones.

REGIMENTAL STAFF

The Virginia Tech Corps of Cadets is organized into one regiment of approximately 800 men. The Corps operates completely under its own command, led by the Cadet Colonel and his staff. This year the position of Regimental Commander is held by Alan N. Stager of Wilmington, Delaware. An able leader, he has shown his abilities throughout his years in the Corps. On the Regimental level, the position of Second in Command is held by Bruce A. Hric.

No organization can be better than the men who lead it. This year's Regimental Staff, composed of men of the highest caliber, have seen many changes occur which they hope will prove to be constructive for the future of the Corps of Cadets.

REGIMENTAL SPECIAL STAFF

The function of Special Staff is to assist the Commandant and Regimental Commander in all matters assigned to them. The staff is unique in the Corps, for it has no command functions. Each member has his own particular function.

The scholastics officer is responsible to the Commandant in any case regarding academics. The Honor Court Chief Justice presides at all Honor Court trials, while the Honor Court Chairman is in charge of all investigations of possible violations. The defense attorney directs all defense proceedings, and the prosecuting attorney conducts prosecuting functions of the Honor Court. The rank of Commandant's Aide was discontinued after last year, and the Honor Court Chief Justice is now the commander of Regimental Special Staff.

Robert J. Graebner, Commander

REGIMENTAL BAND

The Virginia Tech Regimental Band is one of the world's most famous precision marching military units. A band of some sort has been a part of Virginia Tech for the past ninety years. The first appearance of a musical group was a ten piece cornet band organized in 1881-82. Then in 1892, a twenty piece Band Company appeared. From that time on, music has been an integral part of Virginia Tech, with the band serving as the center of the Virginia Tech Corps of Cadets.

The Highly-Tighties boast a most impressive record of first place victories in parade competitions. In 129 competitions, the band has won 128 first place trophies and 1 second place. The band has marched in six Presidential Inaugural Parades. In 1953 and 1957, the band marched for President Dwight D. Eisenhower and in 1961, for President John F. Kennedy. They won first place each time, becoming the first band in history to have won first place in three consecutive Inaugural parades.

A COMPANY

The best of the past combine to form the best of the future last May when the Corps reorganized. This year Big "A" leads the Corps under the leadership of Tom Roseman.

A Company's "thing" is being in charge of the hat tricks presented by the Corps at all home football games. Besides leading the Corps hat tricks, A is a constant producer of fine leaders. Many old members of A hold staff positions, and the company is well represented in various campus organizations—military, social and honorary. As in the past, "A will lead the Corps."

With the reorganization of the Corps at the end of the 1968-70 school year, I and K Companies of the old "third herd" combined to form Company C in the newly formed 1st Battallion. Old loyalties had to be replaced with new ones, and the cooperation of everyone was needed to overcome the resulting difficulties. From the start this cooperation was evident the way people accepted responsibilities and carried out their duties. Work on company projects was encouraging, and everyone chipped in to make Charlie Company number one. Realizing that some traditions must be dropped for the sake of progress, and upholding our motto: Service and Pride, the men of Charlie Company move onward and upward to better things.

Through the cooperation of all classes, D has overcome the old unit prejudices and intra-class conflicts to achieve distinction as one of the top units in the Corps. Enthusiasm and high moral attributed to the Sophomore class taking first in the Corps in the Devine Competition and the Unit winning first in the Battalion for its Homecoming display. Promising leadership potential in the rising classes, assures the fact that Company D will be one of the top units in the Corps.

E SQUADRON

With the reorganization of 1970, the Virginia Tech Corps of Cadets formed eight units where there had been sixteen. The men of A and B Squadrons, the two original units formed in 1872, joined together to form Squadron E. The men of both A and B, though, do not wish to leave the traditions and customs of their old units, look on Squadron E as a challenge and are proud to be among its first members.

E is a combination of the talents and drives of two of the Corps most spirited units, they will never be forgotten. Combining them together will be a job that is hard, but rewarding. The men of Squadron E look with pride and determination on the future of their unite in the Virginia Tech Corps of Cadets.

F SQUADRON

"F" Troop, as the Squadron is referred to by its rivals, has come off with a great year. Besides being the wearers of the coveted gold cord, the Panthers are also distinguished in other areas. F Squadron is proud to have charge of the "Skipper," the shiny brass cannon seen and heard at all home football games. Eleven members of the unit wear the blue number one patch signifying Eager Squad Champions. The sophomores placed second in flight drill competition, and the unit made a strong showing in homecoming display competition. Events displaying the F-Panther spirit were the junior-freshmen football game, sophomore picnic, and squadron banquet.

F Squadron is proud of the abundance of its members on staffs, in honor societies, and in key organizations all over the campus. The Panthers have and will continue to strive for cooperation, unity, and competitive spirit in a changing environment.

G SQUADRON

In the spring of 1970, Squadron G became a newly organized unit in the Corps. The individual Cadets distinguish themselves by living up to those standards and ideals that they place on themselves as individuals and as members of Squadron G. All of the military societies are well represented within the unit which indicated the high caliber of cadet that is developed. The new Freshman class has worked hard. They have had the privilege of experiencing a unique Freshmen system that combined the Old Corps with the New Corps.

This year has been a transitional one from the fading away of old traditions to the emergence of new ones. The "Big G" is justly proud to be called by this name because it has demonstrated its ability to maintain the high standards in scholastics and in the Corps.

H SQUADRON

Because this is the first year of its existence, H Squadron has no history of unit achievement. However, it does have a tradition of integrated achievement, as the two former units of which H Squadron is comprised both possessed records of outstanding endeavor. R and S Squadrons were highly competitive units and had to their credit a combined history of winning both Eager Squad and Devine Competition for a majority of the last five years. In addition to this, they had acquired two group cords and captured the Kohler Cup.

To Learn, To Fight, To Win

These few words embody the single, unified effort of the VPI Ranger Company: the creation of competent combat officers. To attain this goal, the men of Ranger Company undergo extensive training in the military arts. Classroom instruction, emphasized by practical application, is given almost entirely by members who have become proficient in the skills they teach. Included in the training schedules are the following courses: Physical training, rappelling, hand-to-hand combat, small unit tactics, guerilla and counter-guerilla warfare, logistics, land navigation, communications, and military history.

The Wearers of the Black Beret are proud of themselves, their unit, and their country, at a time when spirit and patriotism seem to be going out of style.

THE CLASS OF 1971

Class Officers: Glenn Shelter, Treasurer; Janice Tinnell, Woman-at-large; Jim Mustard, President.

We, the Class of 1971, arrived as eager freshman, proud of our new status as college students. Our aims and goals were varied. Some were here only to avoid the draft. Others came for a MRS Degree. There were ones seeking a means of earning a living and ones seeking a knowledge of life. As time went on we learned that knowledge was our common goal—not just that from books, but also knowledge perceived through other people.

We have seen many changes. The Co-ed population has grown until it became necessary to invade the Corps' Domain, the upper quad. New academic buildings and dorms have been erected to accommodate the increasing number of students.

The Class of '71 has witnessed the boycott of Owens, the student take-over of Williams, and demonstrations for peace and ecology.

We have initiated a new tradition with the personalized touch of receiving our diplomas from the dean of our respective colleges.

We, the members of the Class of '71, started our college careers as many before us have at VPI, but we are the first to graduate under the name of Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University. We came to Tech thinking we had all the answers but we leave now with many questions.

NEWPORT NEWS. WE'VE LAUNCHED MORE THAN 500 SHIPS.

But wait 'til you see our encore. When we started out in 1886, we were just a small ship repair yard. We named the company Newport News. Because we were proud to be doing business here.

Today we're the largest shipyard in the world. And we're still proud to call ourselves Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company. Because a lot of the people who helped put us where we are today come from right here on the Virginia Peninsula.

With their help, Newport News has become an important asset to our community, our state and our nation.

Sure, launching over 500 ships in a little more than 80 years is a pretty impressive achievement. But we're not standing still for that. We're constantly looking to the future.

Today a major component of Tenneco Inc. the shipyard retains its identity and its unexcelled reputation for fine ships. Watch our encore.

You don't have to be a genius to work at G.E.

Near genius is okay.

A near genius with drive, stamina and imagination, that is.

And it doesn't really matter what subject you're a near genius in. General Electric is looking for top scientists — and for top graduates in economics, business, law, accounting and the liberal arts.

Nobody who joins G.E. is going to feel cramped. This is a worldwide company, and it makes over 200,000 different products. So there's plenty of room to feel your strength — and in some of today's most challenging fields: transit design, urban lighting, jet propulsion, computers, electronics, aerospace, you name it.

Challenges like these have raised a new generation of idea men at G.E. If you're good enough to join them, you'll find responsibilities come to you early. Your talents are recognized, your work is rewarded — in money and in opportunity.

This time next year, you could be on your way. Talk to the man from G.E. next time he visits your campus. And don't be surprised if he's young, too. At General Electric, the young men are important men.

THE END

With this page the 1971 BUGLE comes to a close. It has been quite an experience editing a book this size and it would not have been accomplished without the help of many people both on and off the excellent staff. I would particularly like to thank Mr. Gary Gross for his help. He was available just about anytime Steve or I needed help. Professor E.A. Hancock deserves some thanks for being our advisor again this year. I'd also like to thank Sue Lambert for her work on the Administration and Campus Life sections. Both these sections require a lot of work and she did it willingly and well. There was plenty of layout work and typing to be done on the Senior section, and Jackie Roach and Mary Ann Dickenson spent many hours in the office doing it. The Photo Staff did their usual fine job in taking and printing most of the pictures used in the book. I'd especially like to thank Jim Scott and Bill Hochella for all their time. My roommate, Marti Cooper quite willingly helped with typing even though she was not on the staff. She also deserves a lot of thanks. Mary Allen was a great help around the office, especially when the class pictures were being taken. Charlie Garrison of Hunter Publishing Company was always a great help, particularly around deadline time. And Gentry-Gilbert Studio was a great help with their fine work on the class and organization sections.

The staff and I hope that the student body will receive as much enjoyment out of our book as we put into it.

Love,
Nellie
