Enabling Secure and Trustworthy Cyberspace Interdisciplinary Collaborations

The Secure and Trustworthy Cyberspace program promotes research on the fundamentals of security, privacy, and trustworthy cyberspace as a multidisciplinary subject that will lead to new knowledge and approaches to design, build, and operate cyber systems, protect persons, organizations, and existing infrastructure, and motivate and educate individuals about cybersecurity and privacy. NSF is calling for EArly-Concept Grants for Exploratory Research (EAGER) proposals that will foster novel, excellent interdisciplinary research to be carried out in collaborations between one or more Computer and Information Science and Engineering (CISE) researchers and one or more Social, Behavioral, and Economic Sciences (SBE) researchers. NSF anticipates funding up to 10 EAGER awards.

Click here for details and see the announcement below for an ISCE co-hosted information session for those interested in this opportunity.
Deadline: December 10, 2021

Critical Aspects of Sustainability

This NSF Dear Colleague Letter (DCL) is a call to action that encourages the submission of certain types of proposals to appropriate existing NSF core programs to lay the foundation for disciplinary and interdisciplinary research and to answer fundamental questions related to novel approaches and solutions to climate change. One area of interest under this DCL is Research Addressing Synergistic Topics. Proposals addressing cross-cutting topics could focus on technology and workforce development with an emphasis on behavioral and social aspects related to climate mitigation and adaptation. Prospective PIs must send an email inquiry to cas@nsf.gov prior to submission to ascertain whether the proposal is suitable. ### CEUTTSS Interdisciplinary Grants Program

The Center for European Union, Transatlantic, and Trans-European Space Studies (CEUTTSS) has issued a RFP for an Interdisciplinary Grant Program which they are offering in 2021-22. Priority will be given to funding proposals that advance the interdisciplinary mission of CEUTTSS, promote collaboration across Departments/Colleges, develop or maintain collaborative relationships between Virginia Tech researchers and EU-based partners, and have the potential to become competitive for extramural support. Preference will be given to proposals with teams that include at least one faculty member in CLAHS and those with promising impact to areas of research interest of CEUTTSS. It is anticipated that 2-3 awards up to $20,000 each will be awarded. Click here for details.
