

READ ME FIRST

My intent for the dissertation was to integrate the notion of hypertext at multiple levels thus, I have created a document that is inter- and intra-linked and is structured like a web rather than linearly. I refer to the dissertation as a dissertation web, as a reminder of non-linearity. The dissertation was written for a xml formatted docuverse which will be added later as an experimental version. For final submission to the University the format was the pdf web capture (like a photograph) of the html website.

Format & Design of the Dissertation Web

The screenshot shows a web page with a light blue background. At the top left is a circular logo with the word 'DISSERTATION' around it. To its right is a 'SITEMAP' link and a note: 'This is the Beta-version for XML with similar Formatting.' Below this is a search bar with the text 'Search Dissertation Web:' and a note 'Non-functional in PDF'. The main heading is 'PERFORMANCE'. Below it is a quote: 'Performance is a personal expression, a pressing for voice, a pressing against silence until one pushes onstage to assert "I am, I am" as the lights fade: Expression leads to oppression, oppression to expression. Pelias, 1999'. To the left of the quote is a vertical menu with links: 'Abstract', 'Theoretical Narratives', 'Research Narratives', and 'Internship Narratives'. At the bottom left are links for 'About Satika Bova' and 'Email'. At the bottom center is a copyright notice: '© Satika Bova 2001-Doctoral Dissertation Marriage & Family Therapy Program at Virginia Tech Blacksburg, VA Site Uploaded On: January 09, 2002'. A navigation bar at the bottom contains links: 'SITEMAP • THEORETICAL NARRATIVES • RESEARCH NARRATIVES • INTERNSHIP NARRATIVES •'. A small blue triangle icon is also visible on the left side.

ENJOY!
