Suhardi Maulan was born on September 11, 1971 in Kajang, Selangor, Malaysia. He received his Malaysian Certificate of Education in 1988 and enrolled in the MARA Institute of Technology (UiTM), Shah Alam, Malaysia in 1989. In 1992, he graduated from UiTM with a Diploma in Landscape Design, and was given the Best Student Award. After graduating from UiTM, Suhardi worked for two years as landscape architect assistant in Akitek Jururancang Malaysia, a Planning and Landscape Architecture firm in Kuala Lumpur. In 1994, he received a scholarship from the Malaysian Government to study Landscape Architecture at Louisiana State University (LSU) in Baton Rouge and received his Bachelor of Landscape Architecture in 1997. While at LSU, he is the recipient of the American Society of Landscape Architecture (ASLA) Honor Award for undergraduate study and the LSU School of Landscape Architecture Award for Design and Design Communication. Upon returning to Malaysia in 1997, Suhardi worked as Landscape Architect for Arkilandskap, a Planning and Landscape Architecture firm in Kuala Lumpur. Interested in improving himself and pursuing knowledge in the above area, as well, as research and teaching in landscape architecture, he accepted a position as a tutor in the Department of Landscape Architecture at the Universiti Putra Malaysia in 1999. In June 2000, he was awarded another Malaysian Government Scholarship for graduate study in Landscape Architecture at Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University. In May 2002, he received his Master's degree in Landscape Architecture. In July 2002, he was once again awarded a scholarship by Malaysian Government to pursuit a PhD at, once again, Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University. In May 2006, he received his PhD degree in Environmental Design and Planning. Currently, he is working as an academican as well as landscape architect at the Department of Landscape Architecture, Universiti Putra Malaysia.
