

Vita

Xinhua Shi was born on June 6, 1962 in Shanxi province, People's Republic of China. He graduated from Huayu High School, located in Jishan County, Shanxi, China, in July 1979. He received his Bachelor of Engineering degree in July 1983, followed by a Master of Engineering in April 1986, both from Northwestern Polytechnic University, Xian, China. He started his Ph.D. program at the Bradley Department of Electrical Engineering of Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University in August 1996, and completed most of his research in July of 1999.

From May 1986 to July 1995, he worked at Northwestern Polytechnic University, where he was an associate professor. He was a visiting scholar at the Bradley Department of Electrical Engineering of Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University from August 1995 to July 1996.