

The Expanded Civic Space of E-Government: Where the State and Citizen Interact Digitally

Samuel Michael McCreary

A Dissertation submitted to the Faculty of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University
In partial fulfillment of the requirements for the degree of

Doctor of Philosophy

In

Public Administration and Public Policy

Charles T. Goodsell, Chair
John W. Dickey
Philip S. Kronenberg
Joseph V. Rees
Gary L. Wamsley

November 20, 2003
Blacksburg, Virginia

Keywords: E-government, civic space, architecture, administrative discretion, privatization, public encounter

Copyright ©, 2003, Samuel Michael McCreary