

VITA

Ashish Aneja was born to Savitri and Vidya Sagar Aneja on October 13, 1975 in New Delhi, India. Raised in New Delhi, he completed his schooling from Springdales School, Dhaula Kuan. Subsequent to this, he joined Indian Institute of Technology, Delhi in 1994 to pursue a degree in Chemical Engineering. He graduated with a “Bachelor of Technology” in 1998 with a minor in Polymer Science and Engineering. In the fall of 1998, Ashish joined the graduate program in Chemical Engineering at Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University where he worked under Professor Garth L. Wilkes. He obtained his Masters of Engineering degree in May, 2001; and in October 2002 he completed his doctorate in Chemical Engineering. Ashish will be continuing in the area of polymer science as he joins the Engineered Styrenic Resins business with GE Plastics in Washington, WV.