

VITA

Robert Dietz was born on December 20, 1971. He earned a bachelor of arts degree in environmental studies and honors economics from the University of Pennsylvania, where he met his wife, Jennifer Yang. After graduation, he spent several years working in the fields of environmental policy and economics before returning to academia at Virginia Tech University to enhance his knowledge of environmental science.