

FIGURES

Figure 2.1	Floor plan of the Virginia-Maryland Regional College of Veterinary Medicine Large Animal Teaching Hospital.....	18
Figure 3.1	Floor plan of the Virginia-Maryland Regional College of Veterinary Medicine Large Animal Teaching Hospital.....	41
Figure 3.2	Hand hygiene products used in the Large Animal Hospital.....	43
Figure 3.3	Glove Juice Sampling method used to remove bacteria from hands	46
Figure 3.4	Surfaces sampled on selected environmental sites.....	49
	Surfaces sampled continued.....	50
Figure 3.5	Flex-Paddle Solar-Cult® contact slide used for environmental sampling.....	51
Figure 3.6	Stall entry sheet.....	53
Figure 3.7	Informational brochure.....	57
	Informational brochure continued.....	58
Figure 3.8	Informational poster	59
Figure 3.9	Motivational poster (design 1).....	60
Figure 3.10	Motivational poster (design 2).....	61
Figure 3.11	Total patient days, soap and waterless volume of hand sanitizer volume by study day.....	65
Figure 3.12	Bacterial counts on the hands of hospital personnel as a function of study day.....	67
Figure 3.13	Surface bacterial load present on telephone sites.....	71
Figure 3.14	Surface bacterial load present on “computer-related” and “other” sites.....	72
Figure 3.15	Surface bacterial load present on “door handle” sites.....	73
Figure 3.16	Surface bacterial load present on stall sites.....	74
Figure 3.17	Surface bacterial load present on stock, chute and radiology stall sites.....	75
Figure 3.18	Surface bacterial load present on “cleaning implements”	76
Figure 3.19	Bacterial load on hands before and after waterless hand sanitizer use.....	78

Figure 4.1	Informational brochure given to the participants, participants’ parents and/or supervising adults.....	93
	Informational brochure continued.....	94
Figure 4.2	Modified glove juice method	95
Figure 4.3	Bacterial counts on the fingers of children sampled before and after waterless hand sanitizer use.....	97