When I began work on this thesis, I discovered that the process actually began much earlier as a student and a professional in the field of architecture. I felt I had a background I could draw upon as well as a sense of discovery of knowledge during the thesis. I would like to take this opportunity to express my gratitude to my thesis committee and former professors who helped me in different ways to understand and enjoy the process of architecture. In particular I would like to thank Susan Piedmont-Palladino, Jaan Holt, Maria Karavouni, Gregory Hunt, Eric Jenkins, Jude LeBlanc, and Warren Boeschstein.

When progress was slow, I am sure I tested the patience of my family as they hoped I would complete this thesis. I want to thank you all for your understanding and offers of help. And I mostly want to thank my husband, Doug, for his patience, willingness to sacrifice, and unfailing support throughout.
