Library

The library is a place of study. The library occupies the upper floors at the corner of Holland Lane and Duke Street. The location is prominent and symbolic. The library is symbolic of the Graduate Center's purpose in its quest for knowledge. The placement of the library at the prominent intersection conveys to the city the importance of seeking knowledge. The reading room is placed on the fourth floor. A balcony area rings the reading room for private reflective study. A large skylight brings natural light to the area.
