Michelle Lynn Glaze was born in Alexandria, Virginia on June 17, 1974. Being brought up as a “military brat” she attended public schools in Missouri, Virginia, Georgia, Minnesota, and New Mexico. After her family returned to Virginia, she attended Osbourn Park High School and graduated second in her class in June 1992. Michelle began attending Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University as an undergraduate in Ocean Engineering. During her senior year she added Aerospace Engineering as a dual major and graduated Cum Laude in December 1996. Deciding to further her knowledge of Aerospace Engineering she enrolled as a graduate student at Virginia Tech to study Control Allocation under her advisor, Dr. Wayne C. Durham.
