

Process Sketch: Datum and Axis

Endnotes:

1. Sirott, Aldra; Clifton, MD (2001, June 10). "Life is Short: Autobiography as Haiku." The Washington Post; Style section, p.1.
2. Reiter, David; Alexandria, VA (2001, August 12). "Life is Short: Autobiography as Haiku." The Washington Post; Style section, p.1.
3. Pascucci, Betsy; Oak Hill, VA (2001, August 12). "Life is Short: Autobiography as Haiku." The Washington Post; Style section, p.1.
4. Heelen, Larry; Washington, DC (2001, June 10). "Life is Short: Autobiography as Haiku." The Washington Post; Style section, p.1.
5. Reeves, Marie; Frederick, MD (2001, November 18). "Life is Short: Autobiography as Haiku." The Washington Post; Style section, p.1.
6. Francis, Mark and Randolph Hester (Ed.). (1990). Gardens are Good Places for Dying. Massachusetts: MIT Press.
7. Thompson, J. William. (1998). "A Question of Healing." Landscape Architecture, April 1998, 67-92.
8. Livingston, Gordon; Columbia, MD (2001, June 3). "Life is Short: Autobiography as Haiku." The Washington Post; Style section, p.1.
9. Goode, Erich; Silver Spring, MD (2001, June 3). "Life is Short: Autobiography as Haiku." The Washington Post; Style section, p.1.
- 10-14. Hertzberger, Herman (1991). Lessons for Students in Architecture. Netherlands: Vitgeverij Publishers.
15. Warner, Sam Bass, Jr. (1998) "The Human Side: A brief history of healing gardens in healthcare settings." Journal of Healthcare Design, Volume VII, 1-9.
16. Delaney, Christopher and James D. Burnett. (1998) "Design Quality: Landscape design – Improving the quality of healthcare." Journal of Healthcare Design, Volume VI, 1-15.
17. Eliade, Mircea. (1968). The Sacred and The Profane: The Nature of Religion. (Willard Trask, trans.) New York: Harcourt, Inc.

Final Model: View of Residence and Sacred Wing