

A Comparison of Effectiveness of Structured and Non-Structured Strategies of Rhetorical Invention for Written Argumentation
Produced by Community College Students

Alona A. Smolova, M.A., M.S.

Dissertation submitted to the Faculty of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University in partial fulfillment of the requirements for the degree of

Doctor of Philosophy in Teaching and Learning

Judith L. Shrum, Chair
Patricia Kelly
Terry Wildman
Edith Carter
Kathleen Carico

April 12, 1999
Blacksburg, VA

Keywords: Writing Process, Planning, Rhetorical Invention,
Community College, Written Argumentation

Copyright 1999, Alona A. Smolova