Dear Ruth,

I used the Center for The Arts for an implementation of a management tool to be used during construction, some of my pics are from the construction phase and like one or two are renderings from the design phase of the project...I took these all from the Virginia Tech website. For my thesis,I need to use the fair use evaluator for all the pictures that are not my own and for that reason I am requesting your permission.

Hope this helped clarify my situation,

Wishing you have a great day,

Best,

Alba Taveras

Hello Alba, your request for use of photos was passed along to me. Is your thesis focused on the building/architecture, or other aspects of the arts here at Virginia Tech? I see no problem with using photos, do you find what you need on the university's website? I have copied Susan Bland here, she is our communications manager and can help you with images if you need assistance, or other information.

All the best,

Ruth
