The Public Library of Science (PLOS) applies the Creative Commons Attribution License (CCAL) to all works we publish. Under the CCAL, authors retain ownership of the copyright for their article, but authors allow anyone to download, reuse, reprint, modify, distribute, and/or copy articles in PLOS journals, so long as the original authors and source are cited. No permission is required from the authors or the publishers. For other queries about the license, please contact us at license [at] plos.org.

Chapter 2 and Appendix C are published manuscripts from plos journals that fall under these rights and permissions described above, as well as figure 1.1.

Appendix A: I am waiting on permission from PNAS to include this publication, which they said would take 2-3 weeks for a response, which I will forward to the graduate school once I receive it.

Appendix B: I have received permission from published to include in my dissertation (next page)

All other figures I have generated.
