Dear Jen—

My name is Jinny Nathans and I’m the Permissions Officer at AMS. Your question was referred to me. This signed message constitutes permission to use the material requested in your email below.

You may use the figure in your dissertation with the following conditions:

+ please include the complete bibliographic citation of the original source, and
+ please include the following statement with that citation: ©American Meteorological Society. Used with permission.

Thanks very much for your request and if you need any further information, please get in touch with me. My contact information is below.

Regards,

Jinny Nathans
Permissions Officer
American Meteorological Society
jnathans@ametsoc.org
617 226-3905

On Fri, Dec 9, 2016 at 3:16 PM, Jennifer Henderson <henderj@vt.edu> wrote:
Hello,

I’m currently a PhD student at Virginia Tech and wanted to know how to get permission to use an image published in “Operational Forecasting Using Automated Guidance” by Leonard Snellman, a 1977 BAMS article, vol. 58, no. 10. The image, which I’m attaching a screen capture of here, is on p. 1043 of the article.

I’m doing a historical analysis of the term meteorological cancer and would like to use the image to illustrate the term when it originated.

What procedures or steps should I take to secure permissions for my dissertation?

Thanks so much,

Jen Henderson
Ph.D. Candidate, STS at Virginia Tech
jenthenderson.com
disastercollaboratory.com