

Figure 7. A small scale maize crop in Chonyi location, Kilifi District of Kenya’s lowland coast. Notice the inter-cropping with coconuts, cashew nuts, cassava, and cowpeas . The leaves orientation is due to the prevailing westerly winds. The maize variety is known as Mzihana, a local land race.