

Author Note:

This file contains permissions/copyright for Chapters 2 (2 publications), 3, 5, and 8.

Regarding the short communication for Chapter 2:

As indicated in the “2016 Instructions for Authors” (see below), the short communication “Evaluation of Rigid Polyurethane Foam as Surrogate Material for Knee Bolsters and Knee Bolster Airbags in Full-Scale Frontal Sled Tests” is not intended to be a terminal publication. As such, a copyright agreement (see below) was signed, but no corresponding author agreement was signed before publication within the journal. The copyright agreement does not explicitly mention theses or dissertations. However, the Taylor and Francis Author Services webpage (see below) clearly states that authors are encouraged to include articles in their thesis or dissertation. Furthermore, the example author agreement linked from the webpage (see below) also explicitly states that authors retain the right to include the article in a thesis or dissertation.

2016 Instructions for Authors Traffic Injury Prevention

Short Communications for AAAM Special Issue

Traffic Injury Prevention Short Communications for the AAAM Special Issue are not intended to be terminal publications. They will be published with full papers and poster abstracts with a disclaimer that they are not reviewed by TIP editorial review process but rather by the AAAM Scientific Programming Committee and are not intended to be referenced as journal papers, and the expanded work may be published as a full journal paper elsewhere. AAAM's Special Issue Short Communications are intended to cover traffic safety, crash prevention and injury control. Short Communications include research on crash avoidance and causation, road safety, alcohol and drug impairment, behavior of traffic participants, injury mechanisms, impact biomechanics, injury prevention and epidemiology. Published short communications will be subject to review by the scientific programming committee. They can include all phases of experimental, computational, statistical, emergency, clinical and epidemiological research.

Short Communications will consist of a maximum length of three pages suitable for recording the results of complete small investigations or giving details of new models or hypotheses, innovative methods, techniques, or theories. Short communications are given a shorter amount of podium time at the conference than full-length papers. Short communications will be published as part of the TIP special issue but are not considered terminal publications.

Submission of Short Communication Drafts: AAAM Short communications will be submitted through the normal AAAM process, at <http://www.aaam1.org/manuscripts/presenter.html>. AAAM receives all manuscript submissions electronically via this website. For technical support, you may contact AAAM at info@aaam.org.

Short Communications are accepted for review with the understanding the submission for publication has been approved by all of the authors and by the institution where the work was carried out; further, that any person cited as a source of personal communications has approved the submission. Written authorization may be required at the AAAM and the TIP Editor's discretion. Articles and any other materials published in Traffic Injury Prevention represent the opinions of the authors and should not be construed to reflect the opinions of the Editor or the Publisher.

Preparation of Manuscripts: Final, approved and typeset manuscripts may not exceed three (3) pages. As a general guideline, papers should be limited to 2,000 words and contain no more than 3 tables and figures. Supplementary text, figures and tables should be provided in an Appendix, which is not printed but is available electronically online with the published short communication.

Short Communications should contain the following sections in this order: title, author(s) names and affiliation(s), complete mailing and email address(es), structured abstract, key words for indexing, introduction, methods, results, discussion, acknowledgments and references. Section numbers should not be used. Notations should be defined as they are introduced. The text should be one and one-half spaced with 1-inch margins using Times New Roman 10 point font. The manuscript should consist of text with the tables and figures at the end. Number the pages and do not use footnotes.

Authors are responsible for obtaining permission to reproduce copyrighted material from other sources and are required to include a signed copyright form with their submission. As an author, you are required to secure permission if you want to reproduce any figure, table, or extract text from another source. This applies to direct reproduction as well as "derivative reproduction" (where you have created a new figure or table which derives substantially from a copyrighted source). All accepted manuscripts, artwork, and photographs become the publisher's property.

The Journal requires authors to list the specific version of AIS used and their level of experience in classifying AIS when done in the research. The Journal also requires that Randomized Controlled Trials (RTC) follow the CONSORT guidelines, which improve the RTC reporting and enable readers to understand how a trial was conducted and to assess validity of the results. The guidelines can be found at: <http://www.consort-statement.org>.

Language: English only.

Abstract: 200-400 words using the headings: objective, methods, results and conclusions.

Key Words: Include up to six key words for indexing and database word searches.

Text Headings: Set first-level headings in the text to the left, typed in all capitals and bold faced; begin text on the following line. Second level headings should be typed in bold lowercase letters, but with all main words capitalized; start text on the next line. For third-level headings, use bold type and capitalize only the first level; begin text on the same line after three spaces.

FIRST-LEVEL TEXT HEADINGS

Second-Level Text Headings

Third-level headings:

References: The Journal follows the reference style of the American Medical Association (AMA) for the reference list. Authors are responsible for the accuracy and completeness of their references and for correct text citation. Compile references at the end of the text after the acknowledgments if any. List all authors. Number references in alphabetical order. In text, tables, and legends, identify references with author name and year, such as Jones et al. (2008) or (Jones et al. 2008). The Journal discourages the use of website references. When listing references, use the citation found on PubMed with the abbreviated name of the journals, such as:

McCartt AT, Hellinga LA, Strouse LM, Farmer CM. Long-term effects of handheld cell phone laws on driver handheld cell phone use. Traffic Inj Prev. 2010 Apr;11(2):133-41.

Digges K, Dalmotas D. Benefits of a low severity frontal crash test. Annu Proc Assoc Adv Automot Med. 2007;51:299-317.

Equations: Mathematical equations should be numbered using Arabic numerals enclosed in parentheses on the righthand margin. They should be cited in the text as Eq. (10), or Eqs. (12-16).

Units: Manuscripts submitted for publication must use SI units. English units may be included in parentheses.

Tables and Figures: Tables and figures should be included at the end of the text using Times New Roman font. A short descriptive title should appear above each table with a clear legend and any footnotes suitably identified below. Units must be included. Figures should be labeled, taking into account necessary size reductions as figures are preferred in one-column width (3" wide) for the paper layout. See the figure guidelines online and follow the style. Captions should be typed under each figure. The figures should not use grid lines or boundary boxes.

Color art will be reproduced in color in the online publication at no additional cost to the author. Color illustrations will be considered for print publication; however, the author will be required to bear the cost involved in color art reproduction. Please note that color reprints can only be ordered if print reproduction costs are paid. Print Rates: $900 for the first page of color; $450 per page for the next three pages of color. A quote will be provided for articles with more than four pages of color. The editor may modify the figures for consistency in the Journal, and the publisher has the right to refuse publication of any artwork deemed unacceptable.

Appendices: Large tables, complex figures and supplementary text should be included in Appendices and will be available in the online version, but are not printed. They should be referred to in the text as Table A1, Figure A1, etc. The authors must make sure the Appendices are exactly as you want in the online version as they will not be typeset.

Proofs: On-line proofing of typeset papers is arranged with the corresponding author. Proofs should be checked carefully and revised within the given time frame as specified in the proofs email. Corrections are limited to printer errors and clarifications; no substantial rewrites can be made without the Editor's approval.

Accepted Manuscript Online (AMO): Manuscripts submitted to the Journal are eligible for rapid online posting if a valid copyright form is received and nothing is missing from the paper. The original manuscript will be available on Taylor & Francis Online: <http://www.tandfonline.com/toc/gcpi20/current#.Us7vxltDtoE>. Posted papers are labeled as “Accepted, Uncorrected Manuscript” versions and include DOI numbers so that papers can be cited and referenced. Authors will also receive notification from Taylor & Francis when the manuscript is posted, when the typeset proofs are available, and once again when the final version is posted. Papers in this section will be removed once the edited and final typeset version is posted online.

Open Access: Taylor & Francis Open Select provides authors or their research sponsors and funders with the option of paying a publishing fee and thereby making an article permanently available for free online access – open access – immediately on publication to anyone, anywhere, at any time. This option is made available once an article has been accepted in peer review.

Guidelines for Figures Traffic Injury Prevention

The following provides guidelines for the preparation of Figures to be used in papers published in Traffic Injury Prevention:

1) The goal is to include Figures in one column of the paper layout. This means the Figure needs to be clear and legible at a width of 3” (7.6 cm). Please print your figures and scale to that width to make sure they are readable and understandable.

Where ever possible compress the lateral width so the Figure has the best presentation in one column width.

2) The Journal does not print in color. If your figures are in color, make sure they are legible when printed to black and white.

3) Use Times New Roman font. Make sure the labeling on the x- and y-axes are large enough to be read.

7) Accepted papers with require the Figures to be provided in an editable format in PowerPoint for final changes before sending the paper to the publisher.

In order to ensure both the widest dissemination and protection of material published in our Journal, we ask Authors to transfer to the Publisher, Taylor & Francis, the rights of copyright in the Articles they contribute. This enables Taylor & Francis to ensure protection against infringement. The transfer of copyright must be clearly stated in writing.

PLEASE PROVIDE US WITH THE FOLLOWING INFORMATION, REVIEW OUR POLICIES, AND CONFIRM YOUR ACCEPTANCE OF THE TERMS OF THE ATTACHED ARTICLE PUBLISHING AGREEMENT BY SIGNING THIS FORM AS INDICATED BELOW.

ARTICLE PUBLISHING AGREEMENT – COPYRIGHT ASSIGNMENT

ASSIGNMENT OF COPYRIGHT

1. In consideration of the publication of your Article and subject to the provisions of the accompanying publishing agreement information form, you assign to us with full title guarantee all rights of copyright and related rights in your Article. So that there is no doubt, this assignment includes the assignment of the rights (i) to publish, reproduce, distribute, display and store the Article worldwide in all forms, formats and media now known or as developed in the future, including print, electronic and digital forms, (ii) to translate the Article into other languages, create adaptations, summaries or extracts of the Article or other derivative works based on the Article and all provisions elaborated in 1(i) above shall apply in these respects, and (iii) to sub-license all such rights to others. In the event the Article is not accepted and published by us or is withdrawn by you before acceptance by us, the assignment of copyright set out in this agreement shall cease to be effective and all rights assigned by you to us in relation to the Article shall revert to you.

PUBLISHER RESPONSIBILITIES

2. We shall prepare and publish your Article in the Journal. We reserve the right to make such editorial changes as may be necessary to make the Article suitable for publication, or as we reasonably consider necessary to avoid infringing third party rights or law; and we reserve the right not to proceed with publication for whatever reason.

AUTHOR RIGHTS

3. You hereby assert your moral rights to be identified as the author of the Article according to US copyright law.

4. You are permitted to use the material in the ways described in the Schedule of Author's Rights providing that you meet all the conditions set out in the Schedule. These are rights which are personal to you and cannot be transferred by you to anyone else.

AUTHOR WARRANTIES

5. You hereby warrant that you have secured the necessary written permission from the appropriate copyright owner or authorities for the reproduction in the Article and in the Journal of any text, illustration, or other material. You warrant that, apart from any such third party copyright material included in the Article, the Article is your original work, and does not infringe the intellectual property rights of any other person or entity and cannot be construed as plagiarising any other published work. You further warrant that the Article is not currently under submission to, nor is under consideration by or has been accepted by any other journal or publication, nor has been previously assigned or licensed by you to any third party. Without prejudice to the provisions of Clause 3 above you undertake that the fully reference-linked version of scholarly record will not be published elsewhere without our prior written consent.

6. In addition you warrant that the Article contains no statement that is abusive, defamatory, libelous, obscene, fraudulent, nor in any way infringes the rights of others, nor is in any other way unlawful or in violation of applicable laws.

7. You warrant that wherever possible and appropriate, any patient, client or participant in any research or clinical experiment or study who is mentioned in the Article has given consent to the inclusion of material pertaining to themselves, and that they acknowledge that they cannot be identified via the Article and that you will not identify them in any way.

8. You warrant that you shall include in the text of the Article appropriate warnings concerning any particular hazards that may be involved in carrying out experiments or procedures described in the Article or involved in instructions, materials, or formulae in the Article, and shall mention explicitly relevant safety precautions, and give, if an accepted code of practice is relevant, a reference to the relevant standard or code.

9. You undertake that you will keep us and our affiliates indemnified in full against all loss, damages, injury, costs and expenses (including legal and other professional fees and expenses) awarded against or incurred or paid by us as a result of your breach of the warranties given in this agreement.

10. If the Article was prepared jointly with other authors, you warrant that you have been authorized by all co-authors to sign this Agreement as agent on their behalf, and to agree on their behalf the order of names in the publication of the Article. You shall notify us in writing of the names of any such co-owners.

GOVERNING LAW

11. This agreement (and any dispute, proceeding, claim or controversy in relation to it) is subject to US law and the jurisdiction of the Courts of the United States. It may only be amended by a document signed by both of us.

Copyright and you

What is copyright?

Copyright gives the copyright holder exclusive rights over how others use their work. As an author, this means that which copyright option you choose defines how researchers, scientists, policy makers, journalists, corporations, or anyone else who has an interest in your research can use your work.

Copyright has a time limit (usually life of the author plus 50–70 years for a journal article) and the level and type of protection offered varies between countries. Local and international laws and conventions mean that the copyright is recognized and protected, to varying degrees, in almost every country in the world.

In a digital world, how others want to read and reuse content is evolving rapidly. Understanding what your copyright options are is becoming ever more important, especially with the growth of open-access publishing.

What does it mean for you?

Copyright allows you to protect your original material and stop others from using your work without your permission. It means others will generally need to credit you and your work properly, increasing its impact.

Copyright at Taylor & Francis

When publishing in a Taylor & Francis subscription journal, we ask you to assign copyright to us. Alternatively, any author publishing with us can also opt to retain their own copyright and sign a licence to publish.

If you choose to assign copyright to us, as part of the publication process, you will be asked to sign a publishing agreement. This will be after your manuscript has been through the peer-review process, been accepted, and moves into production. Details will be sent to you via email, from the journal's production editor.

(<http://journalauthors.tandf.co.uk/preparation/ethics.asp>) Find out more about what defines a conflict of interest and how to declare it (<https://authorservices.taylorandfrancis.com/ethics-for-authors/>)

Why do we ask you to assign copyright to us?

Asking you to assign copyright means we are showing our commitment to:

- Act as stewards of the scholarly record of your work.
- Defend your article against plagiarism and copyright infringement.
- Enable you to share your article (using your free eprints (<https://authorservices.taylorandfrancis.com/ensuring-your-research-makes-an-impact/>) and green open access at Taylor & Francis (<https://authorservices.taylorandfrancis.com/sharing-your-work/>)).
- Assure attribution of your work, by making sure you are identified as the author.

We encourage you to:

- Share your work (<https://authorservices.taylorandfrancis.com/sharing-your-work/>) Make printed copies of your article to use for lecture or classroom purposes.
- Include your article in a thesis or dissertation.
- Present your article at a meeting or conference and distribute printed copies of the article.
- Republish the article (making sure you cite the original article).
- Adapt and expand your published journal article to make it suitable for your thesis or dissertation.

Alternatively, any author publishing with us can opt to retain their own copyright and sign a licence to publish.

(Version of Record (VoR))

"A fixed version of a journal article that has been made available by ... a publisher by formally and exclusively declaring the article 'published.'

This includes any 'early release' article that is formally identified as being published even before the compilation of a volume issue and assignment of associated metadata, as long as it is citable via some permanent identifier(s).

This does not include any 'early release' article that has not yet been 'fixed' by processes that are still to be applied, such as copy-editing, proof corrections, layout, and typesetting."

ASSIGNMENT OF COPYRIGHT: TERMS & CONDITIONS

DEFINITION

1. Your article is defined as comprising (a) your Accepted Manuscript (AM) in its final form; (b) the final, definitive, and citable Version of Record (VoR) including the abstract, text, bibliography, and all accompanying tables, illustrations, data, and media; and (c) any supplemental material hosted by Taylor & Francis. This assignment and these Terms & Conditions constitute the entire agreement and the sole understanding between you and us ('agreement'); no amendment, addendum, or other communication will be taken into account when interpreting your and our rights and obligations under this agreement, unless amended by a written document signed by both of us.

TAYLOR & FRANCIS' RESPONSIBILITIES

2. If deemed acceptable by the Editors of the Journal, we shall prepare and publish your article in the Journal. We may post your accepted manuscript in advance of the formal publication of the VoR. We reserve the right to make such editorial changes as may be necessary to make the article suitable for publication, or as we reasonably consider necessary to avoid infringing third-party rights or breaching any laws; and we reserve the right not to proceed with publication for whatever reason.
3. Taylor & Francis will deposit your Accepted Manuscript (AM) to any designated institutional repository including PubMedCentral \(PMC\), with which Taylor & Francis has an article deposit agreement; see 4 iv (a) below.

RIGHTS RETAINED BY YOU AS AUTHOR

4. These rights are personal to you, and your co-authors, and cannot be transferred by you to anyone else. Without prejudice to your rights as author set out below, you undertake that the fully reference-linked VoR will not be published elsewhere without our prior written consent. You assert and retain the following rights as author(s):
 - i. The right to be identified as the author of your article, whenever and wherever the article is published, such rights including moral rights arising under § 77, Copyright, Designs & Patents Act 1988, and so far as is legally possible, any corresponding rights we may have in any territory of the world.
 - ii. The right to retain patent rights, trademark rights, or rights to any process, product or procedure described in your article.
 - iii. The right to post and maintain at any time the Author's Original Manuscript (AOM; your manuscript in its original and unrefereed form; a 'preprint').
 - iv. The right to post at any time after publication of the VoR your AM (your manuscript in its revised after peer review and accepted for publication form; a 'postprint') as a digital file on your own personal or departmental website, provided that you do not use the VoR published by us, and that you include any amendments or deletions or warnings relating to the article issued or published by us; and with the acknowledgement: 'The Version of Record of this manuscript has been published and is available in <JOURNAL TITLE> <date of publication> [- a\) Please note that embargoes apply with respect to posting the AM to an institutional or subject repository. For further information, please see our list of journals with applicable embargo periods: \[PDF\]\(#\) | \[Excel\]\(#\). For the avoidance of doubt, you are not permitted to post the final published paper, the VoR published by us, to any site, unless it has been published as Open Access on our website.
 - b\) If, following publication, you or your funder pay an Article Publishing Charge for \[retrospective Open Access publication\]\(#\), you may then opt for one of three licences: \[CC BY\]\(#\), \[CC BY-NC\]\(#\), or \[CC BY-NC-ND\]\(#\); if you do not respond, we shall assign a CC BY licence. All rights in the article will revert to you as author.](http://www.tandfonline.com/<Article DOI>)
- v. The right to share with colleagues copies of the article in its published form as supplied to you by Taylor & Francis as a digital eprint or printed reprint on a non-commercial basis.
- vi. The right to make printed copies of all or part of the article on a non-commercial basis for use by you for lecture or classroom purposes provided that such copies are not offered for sale or distributed in any systematic way, and provided that acknowledgement to prior publication in the Journal is given.
- vii. The right, if the article has been produced within the scope of your employment, for your employer to use all or part of the article internally within the institution or company on a non-commercial basis provided that acknowledgement to prior publication in the Journal is given.
- viii. The right to include the article in a thesis or dissertation that is not to be published commercially, provided that acknowledgement to prior publication in the Journal is given.
- ix. The right to present the article at a meeting or conference and to distribute printed copies of the article to the delegates attending the meeting provided that this is not for commercial purposes and provided that acknowledgement to prior publication in the Journal is given.
- x. The right to use the article in its published form in whole or in part without revision or modification in personal compilations, or other publications of your own work, provided that acknowledgement to prior publication in the Journal is given.

- xi. The right to expand your article into book-length form for publication provided that acknowledgement to prior publication in the Journal is made explicit (see below). Where permission is sought to re-use an article in a book chapter or edited collection on a commercial basis a fee will be due, payable by the publisher of the new work. Where you as the author of the article have had the lead role in the new work (i.e., you are the author of the new work or the editor of the edited collection), fees will be waived. Acknowledgement to prior publication in the Journal should be made explicit (see below):

Acknowledgement: This <chapter or book> is derived in part from an article published in <JOURNAL TITLE> <date of publication> <copyright Taylor & Francis>, available online: <http://www.tandfonline.com/<Article DOI>>

WARRANTIES MADE BY YOU AS AUTHOR

5. You warrant that:
 - i. All persons who have a reasonable claim to authorship are named in the article as co-authors including yourself, and you have not fabricated or misappropriated anyone's identity, including your own.
 - ii. You have been authorized by all such co-authors to sign this agreement as agent on their behalf, and to agree on their behalf the priority of the assertion of copyright and the order of names in the publication of the article.
 - iii. The article is your original work, apart from any permitted third-party copyright material you include, and does not infringe any intellectual property rights of any other person or entity and cannot be construed as plagiarizing any other published work, including your own published work.
 - iv. The article is not currently under submission to, nor is under consideration by, nor has been accepted by any other journal or publication, nor has been previously published by any other journal or publication, nor has been assigned or licensed by you to any third party.
 - v. The article contains no content that is abusive, defamatory, libellous, obscene, fraudulent, nor in any way infringes the rights of others, nor is in any other way unlawful or in violation of applicable laws.
 - vi. Research reported in the article has been conducted in an ethical and responsible manner, in full compliance with all relevant codes of experimentation and legislation. All articles which report in vivo experiments or clinical trials on humans or animals must include a written statement in the Methods section that such work was conducted with the formal approval of the local human subject or animal care committees, and that clinical trials have been registered as applicable legislation requires.
 - vii. Any patient, service user, or participant (or that person's parent or legal guardian) in any research or clinical experiment or study who is described in the article has given written consent to the inclusion of material, text or image, pertaining to themselves, and that they acknowledge that they cannot be identified via the article and that you have anonymized them and that you do not identify them in any way. Where such a person is deceased, you warrant you have obtained the written consent of the deceased person's family or estate.
 - viii. You have complied with all mandatory laboratory health and safety procedures in the course of conducting any experimental work reported in your article; your article contains all appropriate warnings concerning any specific and particular hazards that may be involved in carrying out experiments or procedures described in the article or involved in instructions, materials, or formulae in the article; your article includes explicitly relevant safety precautions; and cites, if an accepted Standard or Code of Practice is relevant, a reference to the relevant Standard or Code.
 - ix. You have acknowledged all sources of research funding, as required by your research funder, and disclosed any financial interest or benefit you have arising from the direct applications of your research.
 - x. You have obtained the necessary written permission to include material in your article that is owned and held in copyright by a third party, which shall include but is not limited to any proprietary text, illustration, table, or other material, including data, audio, video, film stills, screenshots, musical notation and any supplemental material.
 - xi. You have read and complied with our policy on publishing ethics.
 - xii. You have read and complied with the Journal's Instructions for Authors.
 - xiii. You will keep us and our affiliates indemnified in full against all loss, damages, injury, costs and expenses (including legal and other professional fees and expenses) awarded against or incurred or paid by us as a result of your breach of the warranties given in this agreement.
 - xiv. You consent to allowing us to use your article for marketing and promotional purposes.

GOVERNING LAW

Paper Title: Foam Surrogates for use as knee bolsters and knee bolster airbags in frontal sled tests: evaluation of compressive properties and responses due to occupant loading

Author(s): Devon L Albert, Stephanie M Beeman, Craig McNally, Andrew R Kemper

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS

This form must be signed by all Authors of papers/presentations at the conference listed above in order to transfer copyright to ISA before the paper can be published. If the paper is prepared for use by or while performing duties for an employer, then an authorized representative of the employer (other than Author) must sign. If the paper is prepared as part of the official duties of a U.S. government employee, then no copyright transfer or assignment is made, but an authorized U.S. government official other than the Author must certify that the material is in the public domain.

All papers/presentations must be written in English, of high technical quality and an original work. Commercialism must be avoided. Sales presentations and use of brand names in papers/presentations is not permitted.

ISA is not responsible for and will not reimburse any expenses incurred by Author in the preparation or presentation of the paper, including travel or other expenses for attendance at conference. No royalties or other remuneration will be paid by ISA for publication or presentation of the paper or presentation.

A paper/presentation not meeting established deadlines and review requirements will not be accepted for publication.

REVIEWS AND COPYRIGHT TRANSFER

- Review

Author understands and agrees that the paper/presentation may be submitted to one or more reviewers to be judged for originality, clarity, completeness, accuracy, usefulness, currency, and other relevant factors. A paper/presentation must receive a favorable review before it is accepted by ISA.

- Originality and Authority

Author assures ISA to the best of his or her knowledge that the paper/presentation is original and will not infringe on any copyright or proprietary right of another. Author assures ISA that the paper/presentation will contain no scandalous, libelous, or unlawful material; and will neither endorse nor defame any specific person, firm, or product or service. Author will not include any formula or instruction in the paper/presentation that may result in injury or property damage if followed as stated. Author will clearly identify any formula or instruction that may cause harm if not followed properly and will state the potential hazard and consequences. Author will secure and provide ISA with all necessary government or employer clearances, if any, regarding the disclosure to the general public of any proprietary or secure technical data.

It is understood and agreed that only the rights of copyright are transferred and that any proprietary rights to any techniques, patents or inventions, or other matters described in the paper/presentation are retained by the Author. Author acknowledges that any copyright notices and registrations will be in the name of ISA. Author agrees not to submit the same or substantially similar paper/presentation to another organization or publisher for presentation or publication unless or until ISA has declined to publish the paper/presentation.

Author grants ISA the right to use the Author's name, likeness, and any relevant biographical data in connection with publication and promotion of the paper/presentation. Additionally, Author grants ISA the right to electronically record the presentation of the paper/presentation by Author, by audio, video, or other means, and grants, transfers, and assigns to ISA exclusively all rights, title, and interest, including all rights of copyright, to such electronic record of the paper/presentation.

ISA grants Author a royalty-free, nonexclusive limited license to use, reproduce, distribute, and prepare derivative works from all or portions of the paper/presentation on these conditions: a) each copy or use of the paper/presentation includes a proper notice of ISA's copyright in this form: © Copyright (year written) Instrument Society of America. All rights reserved. b) the use or copy of the paper/presentation does not express or imply ISA's endorsement of any product or service, and c) no charge or fee is made for any distributed copy of the paper/presentation. This license may not be sublicensed, and no other publication of the paper/presentation is permitted without the prior written consent of ISA. If the paper/presentation was prepared under a U.S. Government contract by someone other than a U.S. Government employee, then ISA also grants the U.S. Government a royalty-free, nonexclusive limited license to reproduce and distribute, and to sublicense others to reproduce and distribute, all or portions of the paper for purposes related to the contract only under the same conditions imposed on the Author's license stated above.

If the paper/presentation is not accepted for publication, then the transfer and assignment of copyright shall be void and ISA will return the paper/presentation to Author.

Author is an independent contractor and is not an agent or employee of ISA. All references to Author include any Co-Authors and, if the paper/presentation was prepared in the course of Author's employment, the employer of Author.

Publishing a manuscript in the RMBS proceeding is not intended to prevent the authors from submitting their more comprehensive work to other refereed journals. The submitting author must state that the work was partially presented at RMBS.

PUBLISHING AGREEMENT

This is an agreement under which you, the author, assign copyright in your article to Taylor & Francis, LLC (hereinafter 'Taylor & Francis') to allow us to publish your article, including abstract, tables, figures, data, and supplemental material hosted by us, as the Version of Record (VoR) in the Journal for the full period of copyright throughout the world, in all forms and all media, subject to the Terms & Conditions below.

Article (the "Article") entitled:	Occupant Kinematics of the Hybrid III, THOR-M, and Post-Mortem Human Surrogates under Various Restraint Conditions in Full-Scale Frontal Sled Tests
Article DOI:	10.1080/15389588.2017.1405390
Author(s):	Devon Albert, Stephanie M Beeman, Andrew Kemper
To publish in the Journal:	Traffic Injury Prevention
Journal ISSN:	1538-957X

STATEMENT OF ORIGINAL COPYRIGHT OWNERSHIP / CONDITIONS

In consideration of the publication of the Article, you hereby grant with full title guarantee all rights of copyright and related rights in the above specified Article as the Version of Scholarly Record which is intended for publication in all forms and all media (whether known at this time or developed at any time in the future) throughout the world, in all languages, for the full term of copyright, to take effect if and when the Article is accepted for publication in the Journal.

ASSIGNMENT OF PUBLISHING RIGHTS

I hereby assign Taylor & Francis with full title guarantee all rights of copyright and related publishing rights in my article, in all forms and all media (whether known at this time or developed at any time in the future) throughout the world, in all languages, where our rights include but are not limited to the right to translate, create adaptations, extracts, or derivative works and to sub-license such rights, for the full term of copyright (including all renewals and extensions of that term), to take effect if and when the article is accepted for publication. If a statement of government or corporate ownership appears above, that statement modifies this assignment as described.

I confirm that I have read and accept the full Terms & Conditions below including my author warranties, and have read and agree to comply with the Journal's policies on peer review and publishing ethics.

Signed and dated: Devon Albert, 27 November 2017

Taylor & Francis, 27 November 2017

TERMS & CONDITIONS

DEFINITION

1. Your article is defined as comprising (a) your Accepted Manuscript (AM) in its final form; (b) the final, definitive, and citable Version of Record (VoR) including the abstract, text, bibliography, and all accompanying tables, illustrations, data, and media; and (c) any supplemental material hosted by us. This licence and these Terms & Conditions (together, the 'Agreement') constitute the entire agreement and the sole understanding between you and us; no amendment, addendum, or other communication will be taken into account when interpreting your and our rights and obligations under this Agreement, unless amended by a written document signed by both of us.

TAYLOR & FRANCIS' RESPONSIBILITIES

2. If deemed acceptable by the Editors of the Journal, we shall prepare and publish your article in the Journal. We may post your accepted manuscript in advance of the formal publication of the VoR. We reserve the right to make such editorial changes as may be necessary to make the article suitable for publication, or as we reasonably consider necessary to avoid infringing third-party rights or breaching any laws; and we reserve the right not to proceed with publication for whatever reason.
3. Taylor & Francis will deposit your Accepted Manuscript (AM) to any designated institutional repository with which Taylor & Francis has an article deposit agreement; see 4.4.1.

RIGHTS RETAINED BY YOU AS AUTHOR

4. These rights are personal to you, and your co-authors, and cannot be transferred by you to anyone else. Without prejudice to your rights as author set out below, you undertake that the fully reference-linked VoR will not be published elsewhere without our prior written consent. You assert and retain the following rights as author(s):
 1. The right to be identified as the author of your article, whenever and wherever the article is published, such rights including moral rights arising under defined in US Law 94-553 (Copyright Act) and, so far as is legally possible, any corresponding rights we may have in any territory of the world.
 2. The right to retain patent rights, trademark rights, or rights to any process, product or procedure described in your article.
 3. The right to post and maintain at any time the Author's Original Manuscript (AOM; your manuscript in its original and unrefereed form; a 'preprint').
 4. The right to post at any time after publication of the VoR your AM (your manuscript in its revised after peer review and accepted for publication form; a 'postprint') as a digital file on your own personal website, provided that you do not use the VoR published by us, and that you include any amendments or deletions or warnings relating to the article issued or published by us; and with the acknowledgement: 'The Version of Record of this manuscript has been published and is available in <JOURNAL TITLE> <date of publication> <Article DOI>.'
 1. Please note that embargoes apply with respect to posting the AM to an institutional or subject repository; for further information, please see our list of journals with applicable embargo periods. For the avoidance of doubt, you are not permitted to post the final published paper, the VoR published by us, to any site, unless it has been published as Open Access on our website.
 2. If, following publication, you or your funder pay an Article Publishing Charge for retrospective Open Access publication, you may then opt for one of three licences: CC BY, CC BY-NC, or CC BY-NC-ND; if you do not respond, we shall apply a CC BY licence. All rights in the article will revert to you as author.
 5. The right to share with colleagues copies of the article in its published form as supplied to you by Taylor & Francis as a digital eprint or printed reprint on a non-commercial basis.
 6. The right to make printed copies of all or part of the article on a non-commercial basis for use by you for lecture or classroom purposes provided that such copies are not offered for sale or distributed in any systematic way, and provided that acknowledgement to prior publication in the Journal is given.
 7. The right, if the article has been produced within the scope of your employment, for your employer to use all or part of the article internally within the institution or company on a non-commercial basis provided that acknowledgement to prior publication in the Journal is given.
 8. The right to include the article in a thesis or dissertation that is not to be published commercially, provided that acknowledgement to prior publication in the Journal is given.
 9. The right to present the article at a meeting or conference and to distribute printed copies of the article to the delegates attending the meeting provided that this is not for commercial purposes and provided that acknowledgement to prior publication in the Journal is given.
 10. The right to use the article in its published form in whole or in part without revision or modification in personal compilations, or other publications of your own work, provided that acknowledgement to prior publication in the Journal is given.
 11. The right to expand your article into book-length form for publication provided that acknowledgement to prior publication in the Journal is made explicit (see below). Where permission is sought to re-use an article in a book chapter or edited collection on a commercial basis a fee will be due, payable by the publisher of the new work. Where you as the author of the article have had the lead role in the new work (i.e., you are the author of the new work or the editor of the edited collection), fees will be waived. Acknowledgement to prior publication in the Journal should be made explicit (see below):

Acknowledgement: This <CHAPTER OR BOOK> is derived in part from an article published in <JOURNAL TITLE> <DATE OF PUBLICATION> <COPYRIGHT OF THE RIGHTSHOLDER>, available online: <ARTICLE DOI>

If you wish to use your article in a way that is not permitted by this agreement, please contact permissionrequest@tandf.co.uk

WARRANTIES MADE BY YOU AS AUTHOR

5. You warrant that:
 1. All persons who have a reasonable claim to authorship are named in the article as co-authors including yourself, and you have not

- fabricated or misappropriated anyone's identity, including your own.
2. You have been authorized by all such co-authors to sign this agreement as agent on their behalf, and to agree on their behalf the priority of the assertion of copyright and the order of names in the publication of the article.
 3. The article is your original work, apart from any permitted third-party copyright material you include, and does not infringe any intellectual property rights of any other person or entity and cannot be construed as plagiarizing any other published work, including your own published work.
 4. The article is not currently under submission to, nor is under consideration by, nor has been accepted by any other journal or publication, nor has been previously published by any other journal or publication, nor has been assigned or licensed by you to any third party.
 5. The article contains no content that is abusive, defamatory, libelous, obscene, fraudulent, nor in any way infringes the rights of others, nor is in any other way unlawful or in violation of applicable laws.
 6. Research reported in the article has been conducted in an ethical and responsible manner, in full compliance with all relevant codes of experimentation and legislation. All articles which report in vivo experiments or clinical trials on humans or animals must include a written statement in the Methods section that such work was conducted with the formal approval of the local human subject or animal care committees, and that clinical trials have been registered as applicable legislation requires.
 7. Any patient, service user, or participant (or that person's parent or legal guardian) in any research or clinical experiment or study who is described in the article has given written consent to the inclusion of material, text or image, pertaining to themselves, and that they acknowledge that they cannot be identified via the article and that you have anonymized them and that you do not identify them in any way. Where such a person is deceased, you warrant you have obtained the written consent of the deceased person's family or estate.
 8. You have complied with all mandatory laboratory health and safety procedures in the course of conducting any experimental work reported in your article; your article contains all appropriate warnings concerning any specific and particular hazards that may be involved in carrying out experiments or procedures described in the article or involved in instructions, materials, or formulae in the article; your article includes explicitly relevant safety precautions; and cites, if an accepted Standard or Code of Practice is relevant, a reference to the relevant Standard or Code.
 9. You have acknowledged all sources of research funding, as required by your research funder, and disclosed any financial interest or benefit you have arising from the direct applications of your research.
 10. You have obtained the necessary written permission to include material in your article that is owned and held in copyright by a third party, which shall include but is not limited to any proprietary text, illustration, table, or other material, including data, audio, video, film stills, screenshots, musical notation and any supplemental material.
 11. You have read and complied with our policy on publishing ethics.
 12. You have read and complied with the Journal's Instructions for Authors.
 13. You will keep us and our affiliates indemnified in full against all loss, damages, injury, costs and expenses (including legal and other professional fees and expenses) awarded against or incurred or paid by us as a result of your breach of the warranties given in this agreement.
 14. You consent to allowing us at our discretion to post an accepted manuscript (AM) versions of your article before we publish the Version of Record (VoR) in the Journal, on the basis that our quality assurance process may reveal errors which could affect the meaning and content of the precedent AM, and thus all legal disclaimers that apply to the Journal relate to any AM we post.
 15. You consent to allowing us at our discretion to host supplemental material online as free-to-access under a CC BY license.
 16. You consent to allowing us at our discretion to use your article for marketing and promotional purposes.
 17. You agree to provide us, if we so request, with access to and/or copies of any source research data used in preparing the article within fourteen (14) days of such request or such other time as may be agreed. You consent to us sharing such data and data sets with the Editors and editorial board of the Journal and such other persons as we believe appropriate in the circumstances.

GOVERNING LAW

6. This Agreement (and any dispute, proceeding, claim or controversy in relation to it) is subject to US copyright law. The signed parties agree to jurisdiction in US courts.

IRCOBI Copyright Agreement

IRCOBI thanks the “Author(s)” for participating in the International Research Council on Biomechanics of Injury Conference (“Conference”). In consideration of having reviewed, edited, and accepted the specified manuscript for publication, IRCOBI requires that authors accept this agreement before publication. One author may accept this agreement on behalf of all of the authors of a paper. In this case, the author accepts responsibility for licensing the paper on behalf of any and all co-authors.

By ticking the corresponding box in the online submission dialogue the authors agree to the following section A. For government employees section B applies.

SECTION A. Accepting the copyright agreement will evidence the mutual understanding between IRCOBI and the author(s) that Author(s) owns all copyrights to the Manuscript, and that Author(s) grants IRCOBI a non-exclusive license to publish the Manuscript in the Proceedings of the Conference, in paper, electronic media, and/or online formats. This non-exclusive, royalty-free, license is not transferable without written permission from the Author(s). The Author(s) warrants that he/she/they is/are the author(s) and sole owner(s) of the work submitted, that it is original and that the Author(s) has (have) the full power to grant such rights.

SECTION B (for government employees). The Manuscript that has been submitted to IRCOBI fits the description of a “Government Work” that cannot be copyrighted. The Manuscript was written as part of my (our) official duties as a government officer(s) or employee(s). The Manuscript is freely available to IRCOBI for publication without a copyright notice, and there are no restrictions on its use, now or subsequently. I (we) retain no rights to the Paper.

IRCOBI Code of Publishing Ethics

Submission for publication at IRCOBI implies compliance with these principles:

- All authors must have made a substantial contribution to the study under submission.
- All submissions should be an accurate account of the work performed and data presented should be correct, and due diligence has been applied to reduce the risk of errors.
- The work should not be plagiarised, and references to previous work should be appropriately acknowledged.
- The work should not be concurrently in submission for publication elsewhere.
- Authors should maintain a record of raw data for a reasonable period of time.
- The substantial scientific aspect of the work has not been previously published.
- Any required ethical permission has been obtained from the relevant institution/company/individual submitting.
- Any conflicts of interests are declared.
