

References

- 1) Wei-Hua Lin and Jian Zeng (1999), An Experimental Study on Real Time Next Bus Arrival Time Prediction with GPS data, Transportation Research Board: 1999
- 2) Matthew J. Barth, Eric Johnston, and Ramakrishna R. Tadi, Using GPS Technology to Relate Macroscopic and Microscopic Traffic Parameters, Transportation Research Record: 1520
- 3) Jean Wolf, Shauna Hallmark, Marcelo Oliviera, Randall Guensler, and Wayne Sarasua, Accuracy issues with Route Choice Data Collection Using GPS, Transportation Research Board: 1999.
- 4) Shawn M. Turner, Advanced Techniques for Travel Time Data Collection, Transportation Research Record: 1551
- 5) Xiaodun Sun, Xuguang Bu, Kam Movassaghi, and Anthony Venson, A Framework of Urban Street Network Data Collection and Intergration with GPS and GIS for Urban Transportation Planning, Transportation Research Record: 1999
- 6) Trimble, Pathfinder Office Manual, Sunnyvale CA, 1997
- 7) Trimble, GeoExplorer II Manual, Sunnyvale CA, 1996

VITA

Vijaybalaji Padmanabhan

Vijaybalaji Padmanabhan was born in Coimbatore, India on May 8, 1976. After completing high school from P.S.B.B.S.S.S, Chennai, he joined the Civil Engineering program of S.R.M Engineering College, Chennai. Upon completion of his studies he pursued a Master's degree in Virginia Tech with a specialization in Transportation Engineering. He is expected to join i2 Technologies, Inc. as an Application Engineering.