Copyright Release: Copyright laws make it necessary for the Association to obtain a release from authors for all materials published. To this end, we ask you to grant us all rights, including subsidiary rights, for your manuscript/article. You will hereby be relinquishing to the American Dairy Science Association all control over this material, such as rights to make or authorize reprints, to reproduce the material in other Association publications, and to grant the material to others without charge in any book of which you are the author or editor after it has appeared in the Journal. Whereas the American Dairy Science Association, Inc. is undertaking to publish Journal of Dairy Science, of which the undersigned is author of one or more parts, the author grants and assigns exclusively to the Association for its use any and all rights of whatsoever kind or nature now or hereafter protected by the copyright laws (common or statutory) of the United States and all foreign countries in all languages in and to the above named article, including all subsidiary rights. The Association grants to the authors the right of republication of their own material (totaling less than 10% of manuscript text, figures, and tables) in any book, thesis, or dissertation of which they are authors or editors, subject only to giving proper credit in the book to the original JDS publication. In addition, authors may post abstracts of manuscripts on the web at the time of submission. Once an author receives notification of acceptance, a manuscript (peer-reviewed pre-typeset) can be posted to the author's personal website. The authors will receive no monetary return from the Association for the use of this material. The Journal of Dairy Science Manuscript Submission and Copyright Release Form constitutes the entire agreement between ADSA and the author(s) and supersedes all other written agreements, signed or not signed, and oral agreements between ADSA and the author(s) with respect to copyrights.
