Summary

Terry Lawrence is an outstanding example of a dedicated employee who daily strives for excellence. At the same time, Terry shows his compassion and generosity to his coworkers and others in need. Terry is highly regarded by his peers for the quality of his work as well as for his integrity and service to the community. I believe he is deserving of the higher praise for his continuing efforts in so many different areas.

Terry is an exceptional medical illustrator. Many of his drawings have been published in medical books, journals, and other publications. His ability to draw very complex medical images, which require an inordinate amount of details, have earned him praise from faculty at the college, as well as from the veterinary medical community at large. His graphic designs have helped numerous faculty and students create award winning posters and pamphlets. In addition, he is responsible for the creation and publications of wide variety of graphic materials for the college.

Terry is a long-standing member of the Veterinary Medicine Arts and Archives Committee. He is a superb professional and one of the most skilled graphic designers and anatomical artists that I have encountered. Terry will always go "above and beyond."
