Dear Mr. Retegan,

My name is Styrbjorn Torell and I am currently writing a paper as part of my University studies at Virginia Tech in USA. In the paper, I am bringing up the Embassy of the Netherlands in Berlin as an excellent example of how architecture can frame elements of its surroundings. I am wondering if I could use an image on your website that shows how the TV Tower of Berlin can be seen from a staircase in the Embassy. I have attached a copy of the referred picture to this email.

I will obviously give due credit to the author (Christian Richters and OMA) and I intend for the paper to only be available from within the university.

Kind regards,

Styrbjorn Torell

Dear Mr. Kouki,

Thank you for your permission. I will certainly make sure to give proper credit, following the directions of your note.

Absolutely, I can share a link with you when I have finished it.

Thank you again, I really appreciate it.

Best regards

It's also a little bit unclear to me how the wooden beams come together, I don't know if you care enough to detail that out but I think some detailed connections there could make this really shine 11:24 ✓✓

Hey Ryan,
Can I use this image for my thesis book? 14:01 ✓✓

Of course!! Sorry I haven't been looking at my phone and yes ik it's missing quite a lot of details... May go back and model/render it but at this point I have to make a base content!

Which materials would you change? 14:03

How is your book going?!? 14:03

Thank you so much Ryan! 14:04 ✓✓

I have to document this portion of the discussion 14:04 ✓✓

make sure I gave you permission 14:04 ✓✓

Redo the floor and ceiling materials. They are the trickiest to do cuz they take up so much real estate on each image but that also makes them the most important 14:05 ✓✓

Kan jag använda denna bilden till mitt thesisarbete?

Nä

Den är för fin

Hahaha

Klart att du får

Jag måste ha detta dokumenterat hahahaha

Jag måste lägga upp en tillåtelse
