

Rights and Permissions

Notice: Rights & Permissions Update as of January 1, 2021

The COVID-19 pandemic has presented unprecedented challenges in ways we could never have imagined. At this time when schools are forced to close due to the novel coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic, Savvas Learning Company stands ready to support our customers in the use of our learning materials for remote learning purposes. We recognize that teachers, schools, and districts face enormous challenges in keeping learning and teaching going under these circumstances. Our priority is to help our customers access the content they need to meet their remote instructional goals.

Current Savvas Learning Company customers are authorized to use purchased learning materials in any media or format that support their remote instruction needs for their students, through June 30, 2021.

Savvas Learning Company content may be reproduced for limited distribution or delivered through online instruction tools and platforms, including audio and video recordings of lessons to be transmitted through television. Once students are back in the classroom we require that all Savvas Learning Company content be removed from private learning systems, tools and platforms.

This authorization does not require any further documentation by Savvas Learning Company.

If your request is technical in nature (such as help with access codes, materials will not work on Mac/PC, etc.) please contact our Customer Care at <https://support.savvas.com/support/s/contactsupport>.

Please email K12LearningPermissions@savvas.com if you have a commercial or non-school closure request.
