A signed License to Publish must be submitted to AAAS by each author before a manuscript can be accepted for publication. This license grants to AAAS the publication rights needed to publish and distribute the article while securing certain rights for authors. Please note the following before returning your signed License:

OUR PHILOSOPHY

The American Association for the Advancement of Science (AAAS), the non-profit publisher of the Science family of journals, recognizes the importance of openness in research as well as the increasingly global nature of the scientific enterprise. The broad public communication of peer-reviewed research, and information-sharing within the scientific community, are essential to advancing science in the service of society. As part of our mission, AAAS seeks to enhance communication among scientists, engineers, and the public, worldwide.

Towards that end, some of AAAS's journals provide authors the option to publish their manuscripts under a Creative Commons license. For papers that AAAS publishes under a Creative Commons License, AAAS will make the final published version of the paper freely accessible online without barriers or embargo. For peer reviewed research articles that are not published under a Creative Commons License, the Author Accepted Manuscript may be made available at a public repository under terms described in the license. AAAS also makes any article of urgent public-health importance freely and immediately available to the public, and it participates in various efforts to provide no-cost research content to the world's poorest countries.

AAAS Author License to Publish Policy (http://www.sciencemag.org/site/feature/contribinfo/prep/lic_info.pdf)

AAAS' License to Publish allows authors of research articles supported by cOAlition S organizations to distribute their accepted version under a CC BY license (or CC BY-ND upon agreement by their cOAlition S funder) upon publication of the article by AAAS.

Science Journals License to Publish

I. Requirement of Acceptance:

The following Grant of License ("License") must be signed and returned to the American Association for the Advancement of Science ("AAAS") before a manuscript can be accepted for publication in Science or one of its sister journals (Science Advances, Science Immunology, Science Robotics, Science Signaling, Science Translational Medicine).

By signing this License, you represent and warrant that you have the authority and all necessary rights to execute this License. For example, if your institution places limitations on publishing agreements or asserts its own right to distribute or provide access to the works of its faculty, you must obtain a waiver from your institution that releases you from such restrictions so that you can sign this License. After publication of your manuscript by AAAS, your institution may exercise all rights to use the Work (as defined below) as are retained by Authors in section III of this License.

If the copyright in the contribution is owned by your employer, your employer or an authorized representative must sign this form.

Should AAAS decide not to publish your manuscript, upon final written notification to you that AAAS will not publish your manuscript this license shall be null and void. AAAS retains complete discretion as to whether to publish any manuscript, and in

II. Rights of Publication (<https://www.science.org/journals>)

In consideration of publication by AAAS of the manuscript currently titled Shape morphing mechanical metamaterials through reversible plasticity (abg2171) (the "Work") and authored by Edward Barron III, et. al. ("You"), You hereby grant to AAAS the sole and exclusive, irrevocable right to publish, reproduce, distribute, transmit, display, store, translate, create derivative works from and otherwise use the Work, for any purpose, including commercial purpose, in any form, manner, format, or medium, whether now known or hereafter developed, throughout the world and in any language, for the entire duration of any such right and any renewal or extension thereof and to permit/sublicense others to do any or all of the foregoing as well.

With regard to associated supplemental materials, data, audio and/or video files that You have submitted for publication with Your manuscript, You hereby grant to AAAS the non-exclusive right to publish, reproduce, distribute, transmit, display, store, translate, create derivative works from and otherwise use these supplemental materials in any form, manner, format, or medium, whether now known or hereafter developed, throughout the world and in any language, for the entire duration of any such right and any renewal or extension thereof and to permit/sublicense others to do any or all of the foregoing as well.

You retain copyright, subject to the rights You grant to AAAS above, and all rights not expressly granted in this License. No rights in patents or trademarks or other intellectual property rights other than as described above are transferred to AAAS in this License.

You also authorize AAAS, but AAAS undertakes no obligation to, at its own expense, enforce the rights granted under this license on Your behalf against third parties whom AAAS believes to be infringing the copyright in the Work.

III. Author Rights

For the purposes of this License the "Final Published Version" shall be defined as the final, copyedited and proofed version of the Work that is published by AAAS.

For the purposes of this License the "Accepted Version" shall be defined as the version of the Work that is accepted for publication by AAAS including changes resulting from peer review but prior to AAAS's copy editing and production.

Some but not all of AAAS's journals make the Final Published Version available under the author's choice of Creative Commons license. Any such options will be made available to You after acceptance and may be subject to an Article Processing Charge ("APC").

A. Except as provided for in Sections III.C and III.D, after publication of the Work by AAAS, You and Your co-authors retain the non-exclusive right to use the Work in the following ways without further permission:

2. Reprint the Final Published Version in print format for inclusion in a thesis or dissertation that the Author writes.
3. Present the Final Published Version orally.
4. Reproduce the Final Published Version for use in courses the Author is teaching. (If the Author is employed by an academic institution, that institution may also reproduce it for course teaching.)
5. Distribute photocopies or a PDF of the Final Published Version to colleagues for non-commercial purposes only (providing that recipients are informed that they may not further distribute or copy it).
6. Post a copy of the Accepted Version on the Author's personal website or in their Institution's archival database repository, provided a hyperlink to the Final Published Version on the Science website is included and provided the Accepted Version is marked with the following notice: "This is the author's version of the work. It is posted here by permission of the AAAS for personal use, not for redistribution. The definitive version was published in Science Robotics 7, (2022-02-09), doi: 10.1126/scirobotics.abg2171".
7. Reuse figures and tables created by the Author in future works the Author writes.
8. The Author's employer may use the Accepted Version for non-commercial research purposes. ("Non-commercial research purposes" is defined as research undertaken for purposes other than (a) a profit motive, (b) for commercial exploitation, (c) monetary gain derived from the outcome of the research, (d) research undertaken on behalf of a commercial entity, or (e) other similar purposes.)
9. Author may use or authorize use of Supporting Online Material associated with the Work for any purpose and in any format.

B. Authors of Research Articles, Reports, Reviews, Research Resources or Technical Comments arising out of NIH grants awarded no earlier than 2 May 2005 or who are required by their funding agencies to make their research results publicly available may do so under the following conditions:

The Author may cause the posting, no sooner than 6 months after final publication of the Work by AAAS, of the Accepted Version in their funding body's archive or designated repository provided it includes a hyperlink to the final published version on the Science website and the full reference citation and provided that further use of the posted article copy is restricted to non-commercial research purposes ("Non-commercial research purposes" is defined as research undertaken for purposes other than (a) a profit motive, (b) for commercial exploitation, (c) monetary gain derived from the outcome of the research, (d) research undertaken on behalf of a commercial entity, or (e) other similar purposes). This policy does not apply to article types that are not specifically mentioned above. The Author must ensure that the Accepted Version is not released on their funding body's archive or repository until 6 months after its final publication date in a Science journal.

Addendum to the License to Publish for Research Funded by cOAlition S Organizations*

Welcome Edward (ebarron@vt.edu) Logout

THIS ADDENDUM hereby modifies and supplements the License to Publish only with regard to research papers funded by cOAlition S Organizations that have implemented an Open Access policy that aligns with Plan S.

This Addendum does not apply to Works that are not funded by cOAlition S Organizations.

For Works funded by cOAlition S Organizations that have implemented an Open Access policy that aligns with Plan S ("cOAlition S Funded Work(s)"), this Addendum and the License to Publish, taken together, allocate all rights under copyright with respect to all versions of the cOAlition S Funded Work. The parties agree that wherever there is any conflict between this Addendum and the License to Publish, the provisions of this Addendum shall govern and control and the License to Publish shall be construed accordingly.

AAAS licenses back the following rights to the Author in the version of the cOAlition S Funded Work that has been peer-reviewed and accepted for publication, (the "Accepted Version") but not the final, copyedited and proofed version published by AAAS (the "Final Published Version"):

The right to self-archive and distribute the Accepted Version under either a CC BY 4.0 license or a CC BY-ND license, including on the Author's personal website, in the Author's company/institutional repository or archive, and in not for profit subject-based repositories such as PubMed Central, without embargo but only following publication of the Final Published Version.

AAAS' license back of the foregoing rights to the Author under this Addendum does not extend to any material in the Accepted Version that is owned by a third party. The Author is solely responsible for obtaining rights from any such owner for use of that material in connection with the Author's exercise of rights licensed back under this Addendum.

The Author may not replace the Accepted Version with the Final Published Version. The Accepted Version posted must contain a legend as follows: "This is the accepted version of the following article: FULL CITATION, which has been published in final form at [Link to final article]."

Author rights with regard to the Final Published Version remain as stated in the License to Publish.

LIMITED LICENSE

The following terms and conditions apply only to specific license types:

15. Translation: This permission is granted for non-exclusive world English rights only unless your license was granted for translation rights. If you licensed translation rights you may only translate this content into the languages you requested. A professional translator must perform all translations and reproduce the content word for word preserving the integrity of the article.

16. Posting licensed content on any Website: The following terms and conditions apply as follows: Licensing material from an Elsevier journal: All content posted to the web site must maintain the copyright information line on the bottom of each image; A hyper-text must be included to the Homepage of the journal from which you are licensing at <http://www.sciencedirect.com/science/journal/xxxxx> or the Elsevier homepage for books at <http://www.elsevier.com>; Central Storage: This license does not include permission for a scanned version of the material to be stored in a central repository such as that provided by Heron/XanEdu.

Licensing material from an Elsevier book: A hyper-text link must be included to the Elsevier homepage at <http://www.elsevier.com> . All content posted to the web site must maintain the copyright information line on the bottom of each image.

Posting licensed content on Electronic reserve: In addition to the above the following clauses are applicable: The web site must be password-protected and made available only to bona fide students registered on a relevant course. This permission is granted for 1 year only. You may obtain a new license for future website posting.

17. For journal authors: the following clauses are applicable in addition to the above:

Preprints:

A preprint is an author's own write-up of research results and analysis, it has not been peer-reviewed, nor has it had any other value added to it by a publisher (such as formatting, copyright, technical enhancement etc.).

Authors can share their preprints anywhere at any time. Preprints should not be added to or enhanced in any way in order to appear more like, or to substitute for, the final versions of articles however authors can update their preprints on arXiv or RePEc with their Accepted Author Manuscript (see below).

If accepted for publication, we encourage authors to link from the preprint to their formal publication via its DOI. Millions of researchers have access to the formal publications on ScienceDirect, and so links will help users to find, access, cite and use the best available version. Please note that Cell Press, The Lancet and some society-owned have different preprint policies. Information on these policies is available on the journal homepage.

Accepted Author Manuscripts: An accepted author manuscript is the manuscript of an article that has been accepted for publication and which typically includes author-incorporated changes suggested during submission, peer review and editor-author communications.

Authors can share their accepted author manuscript:

- immediately
 - via their non-commercial person homepage or blog
 - by updating a preprint in arXiv or RePEc with the accepted manuscript
 - via their research institute or institutional repository for internal institutional uses or as part of an invitation-only research collaboration work-group
 - directly by providing copies to their students or to research collaborators for their personal use
 - for private scholarly sharing as part of an invitation-only work group on commercial sites with which Elsevier has an agreement
- After the embargo period
 - via non-commercial hosting platforms such as their institutional repository
 - via commercial sites with which Elsevier has an agreement

In all cases accepted manuscripts should:

- link to the formal publication via its DOI

- bear a CC-BY-NC-ND license - this is easy to do
- if aggregated with other manuscripts, for example in a repository or other site, be shared in alignment with our hosting policy not be added to or enhanced in any way to appear more like, or to substitute for, the published journal article.

Published journal article (JPA): A published journal article (PJA) is the definitive final record of published research that appears or will appear in the journal and embodies all value-adding publishing activities including peer review co-ordination, copy-editing, formatting, (if relevant) pagination and online enrichment.

Policies for sharing publishing journal articles differ for subscription and gold open access articles:

Subscription Articles: If you are an author, please share a link to your article rather than the full-text. Millions of researchers have access to the formal publications on ScienceDirect, and so links will help your users to find, access, cite, and use the best available version.

Theses and dissertations which contain embedded PJAs as part of the formal submission can be posted publicly by the awarding institution with DOI links back to the formal publications on ScienceDirect.

If you are affiliated with a library that subscribes to ScienceDirect you have additional private sharing rights for others' research accessed under that agreement. This includes use for classroom teaching and internal training at the institution (including use in course packs and courseware programs), and inclusion of the article for grant funding purposes.

Gold Open Access Articles: May be shared according to the author-selected end-user license and should contain a CrossMark logo, the end user license, and a DOI link to the formal publication on ScienceDirect.

Please refer to Elsevier's posting policy for further information.

18. For book authors the following clauses are applicable in addition to the above: Authors are permitted to place a brief summary of their work online only. You are not allowed to download and post the published electronic version of your chapter, nor may you scan the printed edition to create an electronic version. Posting to a repository: Authors are permitted to post a summary of their chapter only in their institution's repository.

19. Thesis/Dissertation: If your license is for use in a thesis/dissertation your thesis may be submitted to your institution in either print or electronic form. Should your thesis be published commercially, please reapply for permission. These requirements include permission for the Library and Archives of Canada to supply single copies, on demand, of the complete thesis and include permission for Proquest/UMI to supply single copies, on demand, of the complete thesis. Should your thesis be published commercially, please reapply for permission. Theses and dissertations which contain embedded PJAs as part of the formal submission can be posted publicly by the awarding institution with DOI links back to the formal publications on ScienceDirect.

LIMITED LICENSE

The following terms and conditions apply only to specific license types:

15. Translation: This permission is granted for non-exclusive world English rights only unless your license was granted for translation rights. If you licensed translation rights you may only translate this content into the languages you requested. A professional translator must perform all translations and reproduce the content word for word preserving the integrity of the article.

16. Posting licensed content on any Website: The following terms and conditions apply as follows: Licensing material from an Elsevier journal: All content posted to the web site must maintain the copyright information line on the bottom of each image; A hyper-text must be included to the Homepage of the journal from which you are licensing at <http://www.sciencedirect.com/science/journal/xxxxx> or the Elsevier homepage for books at <http://www.elsevier.com>; Central Storage: This license does not include permission for a scanned version of the material to be stored in a central repository such as that provided by Heron/XanEdu.

Licensing material from an Elsevier book: A hyper-text link must be included to the Elsevier homepage at <http://www.elsevier.com> . All content posted to the web site must maintain the copyright information line on the bottom of each image.

Posting licensed content on Electronic reserve: In addition to the above the following clauses are applicable: The web site must be password-protected and made available only to bona fide students registered on a relevant course. This permission is granted for 1 year only. You may obtain a new license for future website posting.

17. For journal authors: the following clauses are applicable in addition to the above:

Preprints:

A preprint is an author's own write-up of research results and analysis, it has not been peer-reviewed, nor has it had any other value added to it by a publisher (such as formatting, copyright, technical enhancement etc.).

Authors can share their preprints anywhere at any time. Preprints should not be added to or enhanced in any way in order to appear more like, or to substitute for, the final versions of articles however authors can update their preprints on arXiv or RePEc with their Accepted Author Manuscript (see below).

If accepted for publication, we encourage authors to link from the preprint to their formal publication via its DOI. Millions of researchers have access to the formal publications on ScienceDirect, and so links will help users to find, access, cite and use the best available version. Please note that Cell Press, The Lancet and some society-owned have different preprint policies. Information on these policies is available on the journal homepage.

Accepted Author Manuscripts: An accepted author manuscript is the manuscript of an article that has been accepted for publication and which typically includes author-incorporated changes suggested during submission, peer review and editor-author communications.

Authors can share their accepted author manuscript:

- immediately
 - via their non-commercial person homepage or blog
 - by updating a preprint in arXiv or RePEc with the accepted manuscript
 - via their research institute or institutional repository for internal institutional uses or as part of an invitation-only research collaboration work-group
 - directly by providing copies to their students or to research collaborators for their personal use
 - for private scholarly sharing as part of an invitation-only work group on commercial sites with which Elsevier has an agreement
- After the embargo period
 - via non-commercial hosting platforms such as their institutional repository
 - via commercial sites with which Elsevier has an agreement

In all cases accepted manuscripts should:

- link to the formal publication via its DOI

- bear a CC-BY-NC-ND license - this is easy to do
- if aggregated with other manuscripts, for example in a repository or other site, be shared in alignment with our hosting policy not be added to or enhanced in any way to appear more like, or to substitute for, the published journal article.

Published journal article (JPA): A published journal article (PJA) is the definitive final record of published research that appears or will appear in the journal and embodies all value-adding publishing activities including peer review co-ordination, copy-editing, formatting, (if relevant) pagination and online enrichment.

Policies for sharing publishing journal articles differ for subscription and gold open access articles:

Subscription Articles: If you are an author, please share a link to your article rather than the full-text. Millions of researchers have access to the formal publications on ScienceDirect, and so links will help your users to find, access, cite, and use the best available version.

Theses and dissertations which contain embedded PJAs as part of the formal submission can be posted publicly by the awarding institution with DOI links back to the formal publications on ScienceDirect.

If you are affiliated with a library that subscribes to ScienceDirect you have additional private sharing rights for others' research accessed under that agreement. This includes use for classroom teaching and internal training at the institution (including use in course packs and courseware programs), and inclusion of the article for grant funding purposes.

Gold Open Access Articles: May be shared according to the author-selected end-user license and should contain a CrossMark logo, the end user license, and a DOI link to the formal publication on ScienceDirect.

Please refer to Elsevier's posting policy for further information.

18. For book authors the following clauses are applicable in addition to the above: Authors are permitted to place a brief summary of their work online only. You are not allowed to download and post the published electronic version of your chapter, nor may you scan the printed edition to create an electronic version. Posting to a repository: Authors are permitted to post a summary of their chapter only in their institution's repository.

19. Thesis/Dissertation: If your license is for use in a thesis/dissertation your thesis may be submitted to your institution in either print or electronic form. Should your thesis be published commercially, please reapply for permission. These requirements include permission for the Library and Archives of Canada to supply single copies, on demand, of the complete thesis and include permission for Proquest/UMI to supply single copies, on demand, of the complete thesis. Should your thesis be published commercially, please reapply for permission. Theses and dissertations which contain embedded PJAs as part of the formal submission can be posted publicly by the awarding institution with DOI links back to the formal publications on ScienceDirect.

A professional translator must perform all translations and reproduce the content word for word preserving the integrity of the article.

16. Posting licensed content on any Website: The following terms and conditions apply as follows: Licensing material from an Elsevier journal: All content posted to the web site must maintain the copyright information line on the bottom of each image; A hyper-text must be included to the Homepage of the journal from which you are licensing at <http://www.sciencedirect.com/science/journal/xxxxx> or the Elsevier homepage for books at <http://www.elsevier.com>; Central Storage: This license does not include permission for a scanned version of the material to be stored in a central repository such as that provided by Heron/XanEdu.

Licensing material from an Elsevier book: A hyper-text link must be included to the Elsevier homepage at <http://www.elsevier.com>. All content posted to the web site must maintain the copyright information line on the bottom of each image.

Posting licensed content on Electronic reserve: In addition to the above the following clauses are applicable: The web site must be password-protected and made available only to bona fide students registered on a relevant course. This permission is granted for 1 year only. You may obtain a new license for future website posting.

17. For journal authors: the following clauses are applicable in addition to the above:

Preprints:

A preprint is an author's own write-up of research results and analysis, it has not been peer-reviewed, nor has it had any other value added to it by a publisher (such as formatting, copyright, technical enhancement etc.).

Authors can share their preprints anywhere at any time. Preprints should not be added to or enhanced in any way in order to appear more like, or to substitute for, the final versions of articles however authors can update their preprints on arXiv or RePEc with their Accepted Author Manuscript (see below).

If accepted for publication, we encourage authors to link from the preprint to their formal publication via its DOI. Millions of researchers have access to the formal publications on ScienceDirect, and so links will help users to find, access, cite and use the best available version. Please note that Cell Press, The Lancet and some society-owned have different preprint policies. Information on these policies is available on the journal homepage.

Accepted Author Manuscripts: An accepted author manuscript is the manuscript of an article that has been accepted for publication and which typically includes author-incorporated changes suggested during submission, peer review and editor-author communications.

Authors can share their accepted author manuscript:

- immediately
 - via their non-commercial person homepage or blog
 - by updating a preprint in arXiv or RePEc with the accepted manuscript
 - via their research institute or institutional repository for internal institutional uses or as part of an invitation-only research collaboration work-group
 - directly by providing copies to their students or to research collaborators for their personal use
 - for private scholarly sharing as part of an invitation-only work group on commercial sites with which Elsevier has an agreement
- After the embargo period
 - via non-commercial hosting platforms such as their institutional repository
 - via commercial sites with which Elsevier has an agreement

In all cases accepted manuscripts should:

- link to the formal publication via its DOI

- bear a CC-BY-NC-ND license - this is easy to do
- if aggregated with other manuscripts, for example in a repository or other site, be shared in alignment with our hosting policy not be added to or enhanced in any way to appear more like, or to substitute for, the published journal article.

Published journal article (JPA): A published journal article (PJA) is the definitive final record of published research that appears or will appear in the journal and embodies all value-adding publishing activities including peer review co-ordination, copy-editing, formatting, (if relevant) pagination and online enrichment.

Policies for sharing publishing journal articles differ for subscription and gold open access articles:

Subscription Articles: If you are an author, please share a link to your article rather than the full-text. Millions of researchers have access to the formal publications on ScienceDirect, and so links will help your users to find, access, cite, and use the best available version.

Theses and dissertations which contain embedded PJAs as part of the formal submission can be posted publicly by the awarding institution with DOI links back to the formal publications on ScienceDirect.

If you are affiliated with a library that subscribes to ScienceDirect you have additional private sharing rights for others' research accessed under that agreement. This includes use for classroom teaching and internal training at the institution (including use in course packs and courseware programs), and inclusion of the article for grant funding purposes.

Gold Open Access Articles: May be shared according to the author-selected end-user license and should contain a CrossMark logo, the end user license, and a DOI link to the formal publication on ScienceDirect.

Please refer to Elsevier's posting policy for further information.

18. For book authors the following clauses are applicable in addition to the above: Authors are permitted to place a brief summary of their work online only. You are not allowed to download and post the published electronic version of your chapter, nor may you scan the printed edition to create an electronic version. Posting to a repository: Authors are permitted to post a summary of their chapter only in their institution's repository.

19. Thesis/Dissertation: If your license is for use in a thesis/dissertation your thesis may be submitted to your institution in either print or electronic form. Should your thesis be published commercially, please reapply for permission. These requirements include permission for the Library and Archives of Canada to supply single copies, on demand, of the complete thesis and include permission for Proquest/UMI to supply single copies, on demand, of the complete thesis. Should your thesis be published commercially, please reapply for permission. Theses and dissertations which contain embedded PJAs as part of the formal submission can be posted publicly by the awarding institution with DOI links back to the formal publications on ScienceDirect.
