

Copyright Release Form

October 28, 2024

This document has been requested by the Signature Approval System hosted by the Virginia Tech Graduate School (<https://ess.graduateschool.vt.edu/>) and is submitted along with a PDF copy of my dissertation, "Engineered models of the lymphatic stroma to study cell and fluid transport", in partial fulfillment of the requirements for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in Biomedical Engineering.

I, Jennifer H Hammel, claim copyright protection for my Ph.D. dissertation, "Engineered models of the lymphatic stroma to study cell and fluid transport" (2024). In accordance with VT Graduate School requirements, I hereby grant to Virginia Tech and its agents the nonexclusive license to archive and make accessible my dissertation [in whole or in part in all forms of media], now or hereafter known. I retain all ownership rights to the copyright of the dissertation. I also retain the right to use in future works (such as articles or books) all or part of this dissertation.

Jennifer H Hammel

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Jennifer H Hammel". The signature is written in a cursive style with some loops and flourishes.