

Permissions ASM Journals

Dissertation/Thesis

ASM authorizes an advanced degree candidate to republish the requested material in his/her doctoral thesis or dissertation.

Authors may republish/adapt portions of their articles

ASM also grants the author the right to republish discrete portions of his/her article in any other publication (including print, CD-ROM, and other electronic formats) of which he or she is author or editor, provided that proper credit is given to the original ASM publication. An ASM author also retains the right to reuse the full article in his/her dissertation or thesis. "Proper credit" means either the copyright lines shown on the top of the first page of the PDF version, or "Copyright © American Society for Microbiology, [insert journal name, volume number, year, page numbers and DOI]" of the HTML version. For technical questions about using Rightslink, please contact Customer Support via phone at (877) 622-5543 (toll free) or (978) 777-9929, or e-mail Rightslink customer care at customercare@copyright.com.

Creative Commons

Starting in 2016, Open access articles appearing in ASM journals are published under a Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International license. The author(s) retains copyright under this license. Others may copy, distribute, adapt, reorganize, and build upon the published work, as long as credit to the author and original article is given, and the new work, which includes the previously published content, is licensed under identical terms. (Note that open access articles published prior to 2016 are covered under a variety of licenses and so we encourage users to review the license information carefully in order to determine how the content may be reused).
