

INVESTIGATION OF ABIOTIC AND BIOTIC FACTORS AFFECTING DOUBLE- CROPPED CORN (ZEА MAYS L.) PRODUCTION IN VIRGINIA

Peter M. Sforza

Thesis submitted to the faculty of Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University in partial fulfillment of the requirements for the degree of

Master of Science in
Plant Pathology, Physiology, and Weed Science

E.L. Stromberg, Co-chairman

E.S. Hagood, Co-chairman

D.E. Brann,

R.R. Youngman

April 30, 2004

Blacksburg, Virginia

Keywords: abiotic, biotic, climate, soil, corn, Zea mays, double cropped corn, European corn borer, Ostrinia nubilalis, Bacillus thuringiensis, geographic information systems (GIS), site suitability, potential evapotranspiration, modeling, Virginia.

© 2004 Peter M. Sforza